Shouts "Treason!" and Seeks Source of Speech

Relay of information from Germany through Franciscan nuns in Illinois "Responsible" for Mundelein Attack.

In Brooklyn Geoghan Resents Sex Charges, While LaGuardia Says 'So Much Sewage.'

(By The Associated Press)

In Berlin the powerful Gestapo, German secret state police, began today to seek detailed information on German sources from which, it believed, George Cardinal Mundelein obtained the information for his castigation of Third Reich's attitude toward the Catholic Church.

Reproductions of purported American newspaper accounts, published here, said the Chicago cardinal obtained his data about "immorality" trials of German Catholic monks and lay brothers and other material on the church-state situation from German residents, relayed through the Franciscan Sisters in Illinois.

If the identity of any of these Germans can be established, it was learned, they will be punishable under a German law which classes as treason the circulation of "false reports" likely to do damage to the Fatherland.

Penalty—One Axe
The penalty for treason is the headman's axe.

What is regarded as even more probable is that the state will move against organizations, rather than individuals, if it can establish what it deems to be culpability. Many religious orders own property which might be confiscated.

Pope's White Book

Pope Pius XI completed and may publish at any moment a White Book against the German Government prelates said today.

The diplomatic paper has been in preparation for several months, they asserted, and is designed to give documentary evidence that any violation of the Vatican-German concordat was on the part of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's regime and not of the Holy See.

Vatican sources said that regardless of what press attacks might be made in Germany on George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago for his criticism of the Hitler government, the Vatican would not take action.

The prelates reiterated that the cardinal, being head of a diocese, was free to speak to his people as he thought best. There was no thought in the Vatican of repudiating him, they said.

Geoghan's Reply.

In New York, District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan of Brooklyn today labeled the attack of the Nazi press on school conditions in Brooklyn and on Mayor LaGuardia as "silly and baseless."

New York school are above reproach, he said, save for certain "outside evil influences" which his office is combating.

"Evidently the author (of the Nazi attacks) like many people here has accepted inaccurate and grossly exaggerated newspaper accounts as authority for his statement," Geoghan said in a typewritten statement.

"If it is any information to the 'Official News Agency' in Berlin, permit me to emphasize the fact that the educational system in our New York schools is not excelled any place in the world."

"This talk about widespread immorality in these schools is nonsensical. Any one who makes such an accusation is not telling the truth. A certain condition was called to my attention and I began an investigation which will take some time to complete. As I have said before the situation I have found has been caused by outside evil influences which have proved harmful to our boys and girls in some schools."

La Guardia Scoffs

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York suggested today in San Francisco that German press comment on asserted immorality in New York high schools be referred to the New York sewer commissioner.

"Statements such as those made in the German press," said La Guardia, "can only be referred to Commissioner Blinger who has charge of the sewage disposal in New York city."

"No decent person can answer, or even comment, on such filth."

Other Bishops Join

Catholic bishops of Minnesota and North Dakota joined Chicago Protestant and Jewish churchmen today in supporting Cardinal Mundelein's denunciation of the German government's attitude toward the Catholic Church.

Archbishop John Gregory Murray of St. Paul, Minn., said the "present critical situation in Germany" demanded that "all Christians unite in solemn protest against the diabolical methods being pursued to eliminate every vestige of Christianity" from the German people.

"No circumstance of physical separation," he said, "can justify an attitude of indifference on the part of any Christian to the satanic measures presently in effect in that hapless nation to separate millions of Kingston's first big convention of the summer season is that of the State Civil Service Association which will convene in the municipal auditorium on June 18, 19 and 20, with from 600 to 700 delegates in attendance. This will be the third time that the convention has met in this city.

In order to have the auditorium looking spick and span for the big convention the local WPA has a force of painters at work redecorating and repainting the interior of the big building. This work is under the supervision of Herman I. DuBois. Painters under his supervision have already repainted a number of the offices in the city hall, and also the interior of the Central Fire Station.

The State Civil Service convention is one of the largest to be held in the city. The officers of the association are William J. Donohue of Binghamton, president; Frank J. Prial of New York, vice president; John D. Kleber of New York, treasurer, and Edward J. O'Neill of Brooklyn, secretary. The convention headquarters will be located in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mayor C. J. Helselman has appointed the following local committee to arrange a program for the entertainment of the delegates and their friends: John Melville, chairman; Alderman Paul A. Zucca, E. Frank Flanagan, M. H. Herzog, Judge Augustus Shufeldt, John J. Egan, R. R. Gross, Jack Feye, William O'Reilly, John M. Cashin, Harry B. Walker, Lester C. Elmendorf, Samuel M. Smith College Has No. 1
Absent Minded Professor

Northampton, Mass., May 21 (AP).—A Smith College professor has been taking a lot of not-too-gentle ribbing lately, in connection with a recent visit to the college by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

It seems the professor decided to have a party in her honor. He devoted considerable time to the guest list, so that the gathering would not be too large to be informal.

Came the day, and the guests arrived. They looked around expectantly for Miss Perkins.

Suddenly the professor's face grew crimson—he had forgotten to invite Miss Perkins and she was on route back to Washington.

Shelters Built By
NYA Boys Installed
In Kingston Parks

For several months a group of boys from the National Youth Administration under the supervision of Matt Haines, a carpenter of the Board of Public Works, have been busy building small portable houses or shelters for installation in the city's playgrounds. The lumber was furnished by the city. Today the work of installing these shelters in the city parks was started by men in the employ of the park department of the city.

The idea of the shelters is to afford a place where during stormy weather boys and girls in the playgrounds can play and do handicraft work. These small portable houses are so built that they are in sections and the size of any one of the shelters can be increased at any time.

Houses of similar construction are used in other cities where playgrounds are maintained.

The city parks will officially open for the season on Monday, May 31, and Superintendent David Conway of the Board of Public Works said this morning that the playground equipment would be installed and ready for the use of the children by that time.

No official ceremonies will mark the opening of the parks.

As a matter of fact the city parks are open all year round, but the playground equipment is only set up for use during the summer months, and is then taken down about Labor Day and renovated, repainted and gotten ready for use the following season.

CIO Affiliate Wins Sole Right to Bargain for 27,000 Jones and Laughlin Steel Workers

Pittsburgh, May 21 (AP).—A CIO affiliate won the exclusive right to represent the 27,000 workers of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company as the last ballot in an historical industrial election was counted at dawn today.

It was an historic election because it was the biggest ever conducted under the federal government's supervision. It was a decision of momentous significance to the forces of John L. Lewis, whose committee for industrial organization already was reaching out toward other steel companies where yet it has been unrecognized.

At 5:38 a. m. (Eastern Daylight Time), Ernest C. Dunbar, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, emerged from the counting place with a slip of paper giving these figures:

Total ballots 24,412; for the steel workers organizing committee—the CIO unit involved—17,028; not in favor of the SWOC 7,207; blank ballots 31; void ballots 56; challenged votes 90.

The men voted in two plants, the larger at Aliquippa, 18 miles down the Ohio river from Pittsburgh, the other at the South Side Mills in the city proper.

Figures issued unofficially by Joseph Timko, sub-regional director for the SWOC, before the tabulation had been completed, indicated that in Aliquippa the CIO vote was about two to one, against about three to one in the South Side plants.

It was at Aliquippa that most of the unrest occurred in the recent 36-hour strike which brought about the election.

A "J. and L." spokesman, commenting on the fact that about 91 per cent of all eligible men voted, remarked:

"This shows the intense interest of the men. The men have spoken."

Told Kiwanis; Plea Made
For Better Understanding

"Common sense and cooperation can wipe out any misunderstanding and problem that may confront Japan and the United States," stated M. T. Yamamoto, American correspondent of the Japanese Times and Mail, an English language newspaper published in Tokyo, Japan, who addressed members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon.

Mr. Yamamoto, who was introduced to the club by Program Chairman Harry Halverson, has lived in this country for more than 20 years, making frequent trips to his homeland to keep in touch with new developments there. He enjoys the reputation of being one of the foremost authorities on Far Eastern affairs in North America.

His address was called "Japan and Her Neighbors," and contained a discussion of various problems confronting the United States and Japan such as the immigration question, Manchuria, Japan's difficulties with China, and the Russo-Japanese problem.

He spoke as follows.

Making the best use of the opportunity your courtesy has given me, I shall present to you my views on Japan's foreign relations. Please understand that any statement that I make in discussing this subject is purely my own personal opinion.

Seemingly, these are rather trying times internationally. We live in an age confronted with many difficulties. Some of the men declare that the world is heading toward another great war; they even talk of the probability of war between the United States and Japan. I do not think there is any people in the world who spontaneously want war; but, "the desire for war can fester within the people if the constituent elements are given." War propaganda through the press, the radio, and the motion picture might drive any nation to war. As a matter of fact, human nature has not changed much in the centuries past. Poisoned hearts make violent hands.

That's why we insist that nations should, as far as possible, exchange their views, cultivate the contact between representative types of the citizens, and bring each other into a better understanding.

As the record shows, the United States and Japan were in perfect accord up to the close of the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-'05. From 1907 down to the present time, however, their relations have not always been harmonious. It seems that the two nations have a few sources of irritation; namely, the immigration question, naval limitations, the status of the new state of Manchoukuo, the China question, and the trade relations. But none of these questions need trouble peace of America and Japan if common sense and a spirit of cooperation can prevail on both sides.

Most men will agree that the causes of most modern wars are economic. It is gratifying that there is no basic conflict between the economic interests of the United States and Japan. Let me make this clear. In 1873 the trade between the United States and Japan amounted to only $2,860,000. In 1909, or a few years after the Russo-Japanese war, it had grown to $99,000,000. In 1929, or just before the depression, it had risen to the enormous amount of $690,000,000. During the last six years the trade being affected by the world wide depression showed a sharp decline. At present the two nations carry on the trade amounting to about $400,000,000 a year. The United States is the best customer.

Duke May Go to Sea,
But Britain's Ships
Won't Protect Him

Monts, France, May 21 (AP)—The British government was reported today by a source close to the Duke of Windsor to have denied the former monarch the protection of the British navy for a honeymoon cruise down the coast of civil war-torn Spain.

Windsor, his friend said, was considering turning to a foreign nation for the guarantee of safety which he was unable to get from the naval empire he once ruled. The British government was said to have refused the request in view of the Spanish conflict, growing out of the Spanish conflict, that increased international tension.

The original honeymoon plan was said to have called for Windsor and his Duchess to leave Chateau de Candé immediately after their wedding June 3 for an automobile trip to Biarritz, a French resort on the Bay of Biscay whose waters also wash the Basque coast of northern Spain.

Prospective Cruise.

After three days at the famed watering place, the royal couple were to cruise on a British yacht down the Spanish coast, through the straits of Gibraltar to the Mediterranean and the romantic Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia.

The owner of the yacht which Edward planned to use, had insisted upon the naval protection.

There was a possibility the Duke might change his honeymoon plans completely, or might seek a foreign yacht and protection for the cruise.

It was pointed out that the Prince Regent Paul of Yugoslavia was a close friend of Windsor and might offer a Yugoslavian convoy.

This possibility was considered to be increased by the fact that the duke planned to end the cruise with a visit to the Dalmatian coast where he and Mrs. Warfield once spent a care-free vacation.

Members of the British royal family, prevented from attending the wedding by the British government which refused to allow Edward the King to wed Mrs. Warfield, were planning to meet Windsor and his bride at Biarritz to give unofficial approval, at least, to the marriage, a friend of the duke said. It was not disclosed what members of the family might meet the bride.

Preparations Proceed.

While the question of finding an Anglican clergyman to perform a religious ceremony, despite the Church of England's objections to Mrs. Warfield's being twice divorced, still was in the air, other preparations for the wedding proceeded smoothly.

Mrs. D. B. Merryman, Mrs. Warfield's favorite "Aunt Bessie" and wedding guest No. one, was expected at the Chateau tonight, along with Dudley Forwood, the duke's equerry who has been in London on a mission to Buckingham Palace.

Mrs. Merryman arrived at Le Harve aboard the liner President Roosevelt last night. Forwood was to join her today for the motor trip to the Touraine Castle.

The Paris hairdresser, Antonio, who takes complete charge of Mrs. Warfield's classic coiffure, was expected Sunday to set a permanent wave that would last for the wedding less than two weeks hence.

Embattled East Kingston School
Trustee, Tired of Verbal Fireworks, Employs Andrew J.
Cook to Write Answers.

$12,786 BUDGET

Budget Pared Off in Spots, Then
Mrs. Rose Garofalo Takes Floor to Denounce Trustees.

Trustee Michael DeCicco, of East Kingston, the butt of misconduct charges in connection with the fight over school affairs raging for the last month in that village, has retained Attorney Andrew J. Cook to defend him.

Today, Attorney Cook, discussing charges against his client, DeCicco, told a reporter that it was his intention to answer all charges to the State Department of Education at Albany and then to await the notification of the interested parties to appear before the education authorities for a hearing.

Trustee DeCicco has indicated emphatically that he will not talk, except through his attorney about the charges brought by the taxpayers and the newly elected trustee, Mary Olivetti, through Attorney William A. Kaercher.

The taxpayers of the East Kingston school district met Thursday evening and adopted a budget totalling $12,786, a reduction of $1,251 from the original budget as submitted by the trustees. Each of the 20 items of the budget was voted separately, with 12 being accepted as read, five being eliminated and three changed.

Accusations Hurled
Expected verbal fireworks did not develop to any great extent, while the budget was being considered, but immediately thereafter Mrs. Rose Garofalo took the floor and hurled several accusations at Trustees DeCicco and Crespinio.

Concerning the Charges
Concerning the four charges, Attorney Cook said that DeCicco was not interested in any "contract" with outside parties, explaining that the charge of hauling coal for Brink Brothers came about because in January the East Kingston school needed a supply of fuel and the firm of Brink Brothers were exceptionally busy at the time and could not deliver the coal immediately. Joel Brink asked Trustee DeCicco if he would use his dump truck to haul the fuel and that the firm of Brink Brothers would pay DeCicco 50 cents per ton for the use of his truck—the same charge made by the Brinks for their own trucks.

The formal charge on this score did not state that the school district had suffered in any way because of this procedure, and Joel Brink has signed a statement verifying this transaction.

The alleged "contract" entered into with one James Smith for hauling material for use in the grading of the school grounds came about through the inability of James Smith to secure the use of vehicle which he had planned on using for carting this material, the lawyer said. Smith had received a contract from the three school trustees, DeCicco, O'Bryan and Capino, for the sum of $50 for the grading of the school grounds. When the holder of the contract could not secure the use of his planned vehicle, he came to Michael DeCicco and asked what he was to do, and the trustee offered to loan his dump truck to Smith so that he might fulfill the contract. James Smith asked DeCicco to drive his own truck, which he did for five days, engaged in hauling materials for the school grounds, and then Smith voluntarily gave DeCicco the sum of $34 for the use of the truck. James Smith has also signed a statement to this effect, and again the formal charges do not state that the district suffered in any manner from this transaction.

Concerning the charge that DeCicco received the sum of $15 for telephone calls and postage and other expenses without presenting a signed voucher, Attorney Cook stated that the clerk of the school board, Thomas MacConnell, has in his possession a signed itemized voucher turned in by Trustee DeCicco for these expenses.

The fourth charge pertaining to the trustee's failure to call a special school meeting for the election of a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the moving from the district of Maurice O'Bryan, will be answered on the grounds that Trustee O'Bryan never officially notified the school board of his removal from the district and had never filed his resignation. Furthermore, Trustee DeCicco had talked over the matter with District Superintendent of Schools Clarence Johnson of Saugerties, who is reported to have advised that since the time of the annual meeting in May was not so far off, he Johnson did not believe it to be necessary to call a special meeting for the purpose of taking action on a replacement for Trustee O'Bryan.

The matter now rests with the state department of education to designate the time for a hearing to

Crossing Tragedy Inquest Likely to Be Held Shortly

Although no definite date has been announced by District Attorney Cleon H. Murray for the holding of the inquest of the Broadway crossing tragedy in which Firemen Peter A. Carey and Preston DeWitt lost their lives last Saturday morning when the fire truck they were riding collided with a West Shore Railroad passenger train, it is expected that the inquest will be held the latter part of next week. It will likely take several days to present all of the evidence.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood has practically completed the police investigation of the tragedy, with the exception of questioning one or two more witnesses. The results of the police investigation will be placed in the hands of the district attorney when completed.

Fireman Perrill Finkle, who drove the fire truck, is reported as slightly improved at the Kingston Hospital, although his condition is still critical. Hopes for his ultimate recovery are now held.

Six Auto Accidents In City in April

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood reported to the police board Thursday evening that during April there had been six auto accidents reported in the city in which two passengers, two pedestrians and one cyclist had been injured. One of the accidents occurred on private property. His report also showed that there had been 93 arrests made in the city last month of which number six were women. There were 16 arrests made for public intoxication; 23 for disorderly conduct and 34 for traffic violations. The other arrests were for various offenses.

The chief also reported that one of the new Plymouth cars, recently purchased by the board, had been placed in commission that evening and that the three other cars would be commissioned as soon as the radio equipment was installed. All four cars are now here.

Owing to the fact that the common council recently adopted a local law changing the ranks in the police department to include two lieutenants and four sergeants, the board adopted revised rules. The civil service board last week held promotion examinations, but were not ready to submit an eligible list for the position of sergeant as the examination papers were not marked.

The civil service board plans to meet Monday evening to continue the work of marking the papers, and plans to submit a list as soon as the work is completed.

The department of agriculture estimates the South Texas Bermuda onion crop at 1,993,000 sacks, 32 per cent less than last year's production.

Twaalfskill Renews Lease to Lands Held By Cemetery Group

The spring season has brought many improvements at Twaalfskill Club and a successful season, socially and financially is looked forward to. Many improvements at the club are being carried out to make the course more attractive to the members. Under the direction of the new pro, Tommy Danaher, there will be extensive improvements to the course and greens. Today a new tractor was received for work about the course and numerous other pieces of equipment have been purchased.

Twaalfskill Club owns about 30 acres of land adjacent to West O'Reilly street on which the club house now stands and in addition the club leases a tract of land from the Montrose Cemetery Association. Officers of the club have just completed negotiations with Montrose Cemetery Association for an extension of their lease for a term of years and with the new lease signed the club plans to go forward with numerous improvements of a permanent nature.

Since 1903 Twaalfskill Club has leased these lands from the cemetery association and the renewal of the lease now gives the club the use of the lands for another term of years.

John M. Cashin, chairman of the house committee, has been successful in engaging the services of Mrs. John Philip, Jr., who will operate the dining room during the season and members of the club will be offered a complete dining service at the club. In order to care for this service the club has purchased new dishes, glassware, linen and entirely refurnished the kitchen.

Twaalfskill Club members are looking forward to a most successful going season.

U. P. U. REPRESENTATIVES AT CAPITAL DISTRICT MEETING

These representatives of the Ulster Provisioners Co-Operative Association, Inc., sponsors of the U. P. A. Stores, journeyed to Saratoga last night where the semi-annual dinner and meeting of the Capitol District Retail Growers Association was held at the Elks Club.

The local organization was represented by Messrs. Milton Friedman, Martin Schleede and Frank Spodick, general manager. Delegations attended from associations in Amsterdam, Cohoes, Gloversville, Hudson Falls, Mechanville, Saratoga, Schenectady and Schoharie.

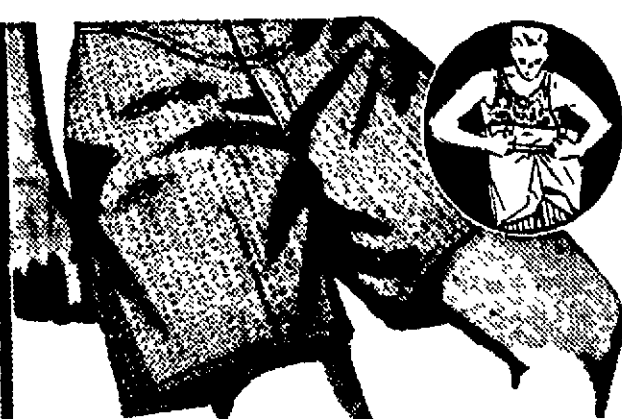

The meeting applauded the report of the wonderful progress being made by the Ulster Provisioners in developing their own warehousing.

Legislation affecting the retail growers had wide discussion, especially the New York state fair trade practices act, and possible little NRA's regulating the hours of opening and closing of stores.

All representatives promised the local group to bring large delegations to the state convention of the New York State Food Dealers' Association which will be held in Kingston in August. This is the largest growers convention in the east, and the U. P. A. stores are to be commended for having succeeded in bringing it to Kingston in competition with many larger cities.

Casey Gets 10 Days for Vagrancy

Annual Report of Women's Auxiliary

(Official Report)

During the past year 10 regular monthly meetings have been held, all of which were conducted by the president, Mrs. George A. DuBois. Each meeting opened with a devotional service, and these were led by different women, representing various churches of the city. At all but two of the meetings, at the close of a business session, there has been an interesting and entertaining program, arranged by Mrs. Lasher, chairman of that work. One meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Sisson, was especially enjoyable, making a delightful change from the usual routine.

Some of the activities of the Auxiliary have been the serving of meals during the annual "Y" drive, the sending of two boys to a conference, donating $50 toward redecorating the boys' department, furnishing new curtains and dresser covers for the "Y" dormitory, giving $350 to the support of the association, sending $10 to food relief, and purchasing some new dining-room supplies; also assisting the various "Y" departments by serving meals whenever needed.

Funds were raised by annual dues, voluntary contributions, serving meals, "the waist measure aprons", cafeteria suppers, game parties, and the annual winter supper with fancy goods and candy sale.

Financially the Auxiliary is in good condition, for the year closed with all bills paid and a good balance in the treasury with which to start the new year.

Our membership list has been revised recently, and it is hoped that it may become much larger during the coming year. All women interested in work for the "youth" of our city are cordially invited to join the Auxiliary.

The Auxiliary was called upon during the past year, to give up two of its most active members, as Mrs. Schoonmaker and Mrs. Fuller left the city with their husbands to take up "Y" work in new fields. It was with deepest regret that we saw them go, although we realized that our loss is others' gain, and our hearty good wishes are with them in their new fields of work. We were indeed glad to be able to welcome in their places Mrs. Sisson and Mrs. Henke, and we already appreciate the fine work of these new members and others whom they have brought in with them.

New Disease of Tomato, Pepper

Ithaca, May 21.—Did it come by first-class passage, or did it hide in the storage?

Spotted wilt, that new disease of tomatoes and peppers, found in Australia more than 20 years ago, has also been found in the Hudson Valley and on Long Island, according to Professor Charles Chupp of the Cornell agricultural extension service.

No one may ever know how it came to this country, he says, but each grower will know when it once gets into his crop. It is a virus disease that attacks a large number of cultivated and weed plants, including most of the species that belong to the tomato family as well as such plants as zinnia, asters, dahlias, and other ornamental plants.

Among these, says Professor Chupp, petunias, nasturtiums, and winter cherry help to carry the virus from place to place or perpetuate it in a greenhouse.

Plants affected in the seedling stage die early. Later-infected plants show large circular spots with chestnut-brown rings on leaves and fruits. The stem may show streaks and becomes so brittle that it can be easily broken off by the cultivator or the wind. Bacterial soft-rot follows the spotted wilt on the fruit.

Growers are urged to be sure the seedlings they buy are not affected; also to grow tomato and pepper plants separately from flowers or ornamentals of any kind. Canners who grow large amounts of seedlings should also be careful.

VINES FOR BEAUTY AND COMFORT; MANY VARIETIES

(By The Master Gardener)

Vines do so much to aid the home gardener in covering unsightly places, and in providing quick shade in hot sunny situations, that their importance cannot be overlooked. Aside from the attractiveness and desirability of their foliage or flowers, vines can be used to distinct advantage for many purposes, their habit of growth making them available for situations in ornamental planting where neither trees nor shrubs can be effectively substituted.

There are varieties that are suitable for every purpose—those that love shade and those that must have sun; vines that will cling to brick, stone or wood; vines that are distinctive for their flowers or fragrance; others whose foliage is the outstanding characteristic and which make a dense screen. There should be no lack of choice in finding something suitable for the need in mind.

Remember, however, that because of their rampant growth, they take a great deal of nourishment from the soil, which must be replaced. If the vine is to make continued growth, therefore in preparing the soil, incorporate a complete balanced plant food, and feed regularly throughout the season. See that the soil is in good physical condition also. Don't sow seeds or set out plants in hard soil that bakes easily. You can incorporate humus by working peat moss into the soil. Vines should be fed with a complete plant food about every four weeks during the growing season. Work the plant food into the soil and water in well.

I list below some of the best of the annual and perennial vines, with notations as to their special uses, and cultural hints:

Blue Flowers For Cool Summer Evenings

Blue is a favorite color in the garden, and pure blue one of the rarest tones of nature. The annual border needs its blues to balance the color scale and to add a cool touch during the hot months of summer.

Annual Larkspur.

One of the Best Blue Flowers.

We have an excellent blue in the Chinese forget-me-not, Cynoglossum amabile, listed as a biennial but blooming as an annual from sowing early outdoors. It has deep and intense blue flower clusters produced in (Ampelopsis tricuspidata or vetchii).—Will endure shade, is not often attacked by disease or insects, and the foliage is not injured by the smoke and dirt of cities. Will attain a height of 50 feet or more. Will do well in any average soil.

A perennial vine giving dense shade; one of the best vines grown where shade for porches is desired: Dutchman's Pipe (Aristolochia Sipho).—Grows well in sun or shade, is resistant to disease and insects, and will endure smoke and dirt of cities. Will do well in most any soil. Has a curious bloom of a brownish shade, in the shape of a pipe. Grows to a height of 30 feet or more.

A perennial vine that will grow in sandy, poor soil, shade or sun: Lathyrus Fatellus (Perennial Pea).—Perfectly hardy, has blossoms larger and more beautiful than the sweet pea, although not fragrant. Fine for covering fences or other unsightly objects. Grows to a height of eight to 10 feet.

A fragrant flowering vine from hairy tuberous roots, which will do well in most any situation:

Cinnamon Vine (Dioscorea batata).—A hardy sure grower under adverse conditions, fragrance from the tiny white blossoms is similar to that of cinnamon. Never troubled by insects or disease. Tubers are hardy and increase from year to year. Dies down in fall but grows very rapidly in spring. Height attained, 30 feet.

A perennial vine for a shady situation, inclined to spread and become naturalized, especially recommended for covering banks, hillsides, and cuts:

Hall Japanese Honeysuckle (Lonicera Haliana).—Also useful for porches, trellises, pergolas, and screen effects. Will also thrive in sun.

A perennial vine for poor soil, especially adapted to use on arbors and trellises:

Silver Lace Vine (Polygonum aubertii).—Will do well where others fail. Reaches a height of 25 feet. Blooms in great sprays of white flowers, in late summer.

In the flowering perennial vines, wisteria and clematis may be had in variety.

Wisteria is very vigorous in growth, although slow to start into growth after being planted. Be sure to specify a grafter plant to be sure of bloom. A deep rich soil is preferred, the drainage should be good, and sunshine is required.

Clematis require a rich light loam, well drained and limed. They need a constant supply of water, drought is very bad for them. They are used mostly on pillars and porches and over doorways. The large flowering varieties require a little more careful culture than the small flowered clematis. Clematis must have support at the ground to prevent swaying in the wind and consequent injury to stems.

Most of the above vines can be secured from any large nursery, and where plants are secured, will make good growth if set out now.

All of the annual vines can be sown, and here are a few very good vines:

An annual vine that succeeds best in light soil and warm situations (a small vine for delicate effects and small porches):

Balloon Vine (Cardiospermum).—Seed vessels look like miniature balloons. Are much enjoyed by children. Attain a height of 10 to 15 feet.

An annual vine having delicate fernlike foliage and star-shaped scarlet or white flowers:

Cypress Vine (Quamoclit pinnata).—Will reach a height of 10 to 15 feet. Of greatest value where a fine dainty ornamental vine is desired rather than something heavy and coarse as a screen. Seed is slow in germinating and should be soaked several hours in tepid water before sowing.

great profusion, making a brilliant patch in the garden as well as a fine subject for cutting.

It much resembles the Anchusa (italica), a favorite in the perennial border for its intense blue, but of lower growth and has much finer foliage. This is a real addition to the blue annuals.

An old standby is the bachelor button or centaurea cyanus which has fringed blue flowers produced in great profusion with good stems for cutting.

The annual larkspurs give some fine blues although all have more or less purple in them. They are one of the most valuable of the annuals. They must be sown where they are to bloom and then be thinned, as they are difficult to transplant.

Another beautiful blue annual not enough used is the browallia. It has intense blue flowers freely produced and is easily grown. Although it is more of a garden annual it is frequently seen as a pot plant.

The rich blue spikes of the annual lupins with their pea-shaped blooms add to the list of handsome blue annuals for the border, and for the edges there are the gorgeous depths of the lobelias and the velvet of the blue-toned pansies. The blue section of the border needs the planting of groups of pinks, pale yellow and white, to give the blues their best effects and to avoid monotony.

The blue-toned ten-weeks stocks and asters give solidity to the blue border and have their own pinks, whites and creams by way of harmony. The blue portion of the annual border is most effective if in partial shade. All these annuals may be easily raised from seed planted in an outdoor seedbed when the soil is workable, or directly where they are to grow.

Floral Decoration For Memorial Day

For thousands of Americans, Memorial Day has a practical problem each year, concerning the decoration of graves. Established as an anniversary in memory of those who had fallen in the Civil War, it soon became the day when all who had passed on were honored, and the custom of decorating their graves on this day has been increasingly observed for more than half a century.

How shall graves be decorated, is the practical problem. There is no solution to be found in current fashion, for this is a field in which tradition rather than fashion must rule. The first thing to be ascertained, if it is not already known, is the attitude of the cemetery toward plantings. Whatever is done must be in accord with the regulations, in which great differences prevail.

Memorial Day has always been a busy day for florists, who prepare each year thousands of plants to be used in decorating graves, where such decorations are permitted.

Both flowering and foliage plants are available in great abundance, so that it is possible to develop any sort of decoration which will please the taste, and conform to rules. Florists will be found well-informed about cemetery rules, and competent to advise on the materials which will best create the desired effect.

An important factor in selecting plants is shade. For a sunny lot there is a much wider choice than for one which is in deep shade, while the partly shaded location is somewhat limited. Here are suggestions for a sunny lot:

Ageratum, alyssum, bellis perennis, candytuft, dusty miller, echinacea, California poppy, ice plant, dwarf marigold, petunia, annual phlox, portulaca, santolina, sempervivum, verbena.

For either sunny or partly shaded locations these plants serve well: Coleus, cuphea, golden feather, heliotrope, iris, jai-jai, balcony petunias, pilea, santolina, sedum, and alternanthera.

For shady locations, the following can be recommended: Begonias, both fibrous and tuberous rooted; Boston ivy, evonymus radicans, fuchsia, lily, forget-me-not, pachysandra, torenia, vinca minor and vinca rosea.

Because of the great activity in grave decoration which is concentrated on this one day, plans should be made, and material arranged for well in advance.

Vienna Sees Own Star Only In Foreign Films

ELISABETH BERGNER: Now a 'Foreign Star' To Her Native Vienna

Vienna (AP)—The Vienna public must go to an American or British cinema if it wants to see its native darling, Elisabeth Bergner.

This is the lament of "Die Stimme," prominent Jewish newspaper here, which says it is "The result of a cultural policy that pays for having let Jews go by losing art-conscious foreign markets."

Hidden Drive "Cold anti-semitism"—a phrase used here to mean steady but hidden pressure against Jews—is sweeping through nearly all phases of Austrian culture life.

The activity of this anti-Jewish offensive is inspired from a center supported by Nazi Germany," the paper declares.

Moran Students Visit New York

Replete with many delightful experiences was the trip to New York city enjoyed on Wednesday by students and teachers of the Moran School of Business, Burgevin Building. Lowering clouds in the early morning threatened to interfere with the students' plans, but as the day wore on, the weather improved, culminating in a brilliant sunlit afternoon in the metropolis.

Arriving in New York city at noon, the group had luncheon in the popular Grill Room of the Hotel Taft, where George Hall and his orchestra provided music for dancing. Several of the students obtained the autographs of Mr. Hall and of his soloist Dolly Dawn.

The majority of the party elected to go to the Radio City Music Hall, where an exceptionally notable program featuring the coronation theme was presented. Others chose to attend Wednesday matinees of various Broadway shows. The rest of the time in New York was spent mainly in sightseeing and mingling with the happy throngs on the Great White Way.

The students of the Moran School had planned this as a purely pleasure trip and this it proved to be in every sense of the word. They returned to their studies today with renewed zest and enthusiasm.

The trip was made in one of the luxurious new buses of the Adirondack Transit Lines.

Recalls Early Days Of Zion Church

Mrs. Mary A. Rosa, of 44 Ten Broeck avenue, one of the oldest members of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church which is now celebrating its 89th anniversary, can recall some of the early days of the church when it was located on Division street and Bowery street, now Broadway and Franklin street.

Mrs. Rodas attended Sunday School at the church more than 70 years ago and remembers her Sunday School teacher, Miss Johanna Sales, stepdaughter of the late Andrew Post of this city who was trustee of the Franklin Street Church for many years.

During this period in the church's history, the Rev. Mr. Marshall was the minister. The late Thomas C. Roosa, husband of Mary A. Roosa, was a member of the church choir in the early days, which are so vividly recalled by his wife even to the names of several of the founders of the church who were living in the year 1862.

A sister, Mrs. Jane J. Roosa, was superintendent of the Sunday School during this period.

Mrs. Roosa, now over 86 years of age, was born on Albany avenue on the site of what is now the Shell station, and she has lived for the past 54 years of her life at her present residence on Ten Broeck avenue.

Reformed Synod Reports Increase In Church Activity

The particular synods of the Reformed Church in America have finished their work and the figures for the denomination for the past year are now available.

For the most part the year has been one of gains, although not as large gains as were expected, considering the work done by President F. Raymond Clee, D. D., of Jersey City, and his cabinet.

There have been losses in four items: A loss of 221 in adherents, the number now being 24,063; a loss of 211 in baptised non-communants and a loss of 361 in catechumens, those under catechetical instruction. The most serious loss of all is that in the Sunday school enrollment, which was 2,245 less than last year, leaving the number at present 138,730.

There were gains in 16 different items; the most important of these are: There are now 178 churches, a gain of three; 88,117 families, a gain of 338; the church received 7,377 members on confession of faith, a gain of 898, and 4,063 by letter from other churches, a gain of 733. The total membership of the denomination is now 159,542, which is only 23 more than last year. This, however, is partially due to the fact that there has been a rather drastic revision of the rolls in many churches and the number dropped is 1,198 more than last year, the number dismissed 209 more, and the number of absentee members 712 more than the previous year.

There were 261 more infants baptised and 139 more adult baptisms than last year. The contributions to missions were $559,713, or a gain of $31,511. Those to other (interdenominational) benevolences were $102,969, or $4,546 more, and the amount for congregational expenses (expenses of the individual churches) was $2,978,429, or $136,527 gain.

These items show that the church has begun to move forward again. An increase of 5 per cent was asked in the gifts for missions, which was reached. The gifts to interdenominational benevolences also made nearly a 5 per cent gain. The old missionary spirit of the church is shown by the fact that while the gifts for missions were over 5 per cent gain, the gifts for the individual congregations were less than 5 per cent.

It is expected that the General Synod, which meets at Asbury Park, on June 3, with a pre-synod conference on evangelism and stewardship on June 2 and 3, will take steps to continue the forward movement begun by Dr. Clee and his cabinet.

This year is the first annual session of synod since 1932. The sessions of 1933 and 1935 were omitted for the sake of economy. Last year the synod meeting in Rochester voted to go back to the annual sessions. Delegates from Ulster county were: The Rev. Chester C. Chilton, Hurley; the Rev. John B. Steketee, Kingston; the Rev. Henry S. Van Woert, Roxbury; Elder William C. Dutton, Kingston; Elder Leslie Herring, Ulster Park; Elder A. K. Enderlin, Roxbury; the Rev. John Neander, Saugerties; the Rev. Philip H. Goertz, Port Ewen; the Rev. Clarence S. Howard, High Falls; Elder Philip Van Etten, Saugerties; Elder Lester Ferguson, Port Ewen; Elder Stanley Steen, High Falls.

Frank Rothe Directs Grand Pageant at Woodstock, June 5

Frank Rothe

Frank Rothe, who is to direct the grand pageant of the Sesquicentennial on June 5, has now arrived in Woodstock, and in conference with Miss Sydney Dyke, pageant chairman, is working out the final details of action and setting of the five scenes in which the long history of the years will be enacted. From the introductory scene written by Mrs. Louis Hasbrouck Zimm, Miss Dyke has followed through, arranging incidents and scenes which embrace not only such world events as the Revolution and Civil War in which old Woodstockers had a part, but also the more locally significant and less belittled picturing of the daily life of the Dutch settlers, their worship, their weddings, their play, dances and songs.

Mr. Rothe, who with his wife, Velma Royton, has spent several summers in Woodstock as a member of the Robert Elwyn Maverick Co., returns this year to act under that same management. He will, however, before the opening of the theatre, be able to give his entire time to the pageant rehearsals. He and Miss Royton are also to act the parts of witch and modern young man in the opening scene of the pageant.

With Clare Tree Major Mr. and Mrs. Rothe are back from a very active winter. They have been playing in "Little Women" in the travelling children's theatre of Clare Tree Major.

In addition to his wide and varied experience as an actor, Mr. Rothe also has served as director in the Children's Theatre in New York, in the Rutherford Theatre at Norwich, Conn., and in his own theatre in Montclair, N. J.

Miss Royton, who unfailingly has delighted her Woodstock audiences, usually acts in the same company with her husband. She, too, has had directorial experience.

In it he found 50 baby chicks.

NEVER NEGLECT YOUR FEET

No one should ever neglect the care of their feet. A pair of good, healthy feet save a lot of misery. And here is something that does give real foot comfort. Simply go to your drugist and get some Ice Mint. Use it for one day and see if this isn't the greatest little package of foot joy you ever saw. Ice Mint prevents foot odors, keeps the feet cool and comfortable, relieves the stinging pain of corns and callouses and every person who has to walk or stand very much, surely will appreciate how good it makes the feet feel. Try it just once and give your poor, tired, aching feet the treat of their lives. You will like the way Ice Mint works and the cooling comfort it brings to your feet; even a new pair of shoes won't bother you. Just one day's use will prove it.—Adv.

"SKIDDING" WILL BE PRESENTED HERE SOON

When the Children of Mary Society of St. Mary's Church present "Skidding" by Aurania Rouverol, at the school auditorium, next Thursday and Friday, they will introduce to local audiences one of the most interesting of comedies of the theatre. Presented on Broadway in 1930, the play won instantaneous and extensive acclaim. It has been successfully presented by hundreds of Little Theatre and amateur groups since then. Although the play concerns itself chiefly with the solution, by a kindly but determined mother, of the domestic problems of her two married daughters, there is a delightful thread of romance running throughout the play. Much time, work and careful planning have all resulted in what is hoped to be one of the most ambitious the society has ever presented. The play itself has called for diligent rehearsal, and the cast has been under the very skillful direction of Mrs. Joseph A. McNellis, whose genius in this field is well known to Kingston audiences. Her supervision of the players, plus the intricate power of the plot are sure to provide a most interesting and enjoyable evening for all who witness the play on Thursday, May 27, or Friday, May 28.

The spectacle of a runaway horse attached to a buggy was an almost forgotten sight in this village until Wednesday afternoon. Jack LaFalce, Jr., rides a white horse that is unacquainted with a buggy and that afternoon was given a lesson in being bitched up. On Grand street the horse decided that he had stood sufficient and started kicking until the occupants of the small single buggy were thrown out. Let loose, the horse came up Main street and near Dr. Blakely's was getting winded but men nowadays don't know how to step out into the street and catch a horse's bridle, and while several went through the motions he went on his way undisturbed. Several ran along the sidewalk and others commandeered automobiles to tag along. The owner of the horse with Thomas Shay, Jr., passed the runaway and at the Schantz pond got crossways of the road and so brought all the excitement to an end.

Olive Property, Says Dellay, for Parents Of "Morning Star"

John Dellay of Rosendale, as attorney in fact for Katherine Ruch of the town of Rosendale, has transferred several parcels of land in town of Olive to Helen F. Young of 333 South 8th avenue, Mt. Vernon. The deed has been filed in the office of the county clerk.

Mr. Dellay told a Freeman reporter that the property had been bought by Helen F. Young for the purpose of installing the parents of "Morning Star."

ing Star," the young girl whose death in New York city recently created a stir. He said the girl's parents, followers of Father Divine, were now residing on the premises. The death of "Morning Star" at a New York hospital after authorities had interfered in an effort to save the child's life, was the result of tuberculosis. The case attracted wide attention because of the charges which were made that the parents of the girl had placed their entire faith in the healing virtues of Father Divine and had not provided proper medical attention. These charges finally resulted in the girl being taken to a hospital where she died a few days after.

The farm on which the parents have been installed is at Krumville and consists, according to the deed, of four parcels. There are 33½ acres in one, 32½ acres in the second, 12.1 acres in the third and 12 acres in the fourth parcel covered by the deed. The consideration gives $1 and the stamp tax paid was $1.50.

State Police were asked to make an investigation in the matter and visited the farm where the parents of the girl are now residing.

First reports following the death of "Morning Star" and the removal of her parents from New York, were that the parents were attempting to avoid the authorities and hinder an investigation.

When the police called at the Krumville property they were told that Father Divine had forbidden the people to read newspapers and they had no knowledge that an investigation was under way or that they were wanted for questioning. As soon as this was learned the parents surrendered themselves for examination, they said.

When the investigation was first started following the girl's death the authorities were told that the parents had "gone to an upper Heaven" of Father Divine and were later located at the Krumville property. Mr. Dellay said they had been at the place for over a week. The people originally came from California to New York.

Y.W. Reports On Drive Tonight

The second report of the workers on the Y. W. C. A. drive will be made at a supper this evening in the "Y. W." starting at 6 o'clock. Reports of the several divisions will be made. All workers are asked to have their collections filed.

DeCicco Will Answer Charges

which interested parties of both sides will be called.

The special meeting of the East Kingston school district, called to adopt a school budget, was opened by Trustee Michael DeCicco. James Berardi was appointed chairman and Peter Raa clerk.

The minutes of the meeting of May 4, at which DeCicco was threatened with court action if he did not resign, were read by Clerk Raa.

A motion, made by Thomas Dempsey and seconded by John Heneberry, which stated that each item of the proposed budget be read and voted upon separately, was carried.

Items of Budget.

The following are the items and the action taken on each, including the discussion concerning each item:

The clerk's salary of $100 was approved. A sum of $50 for the expense of taking the school census was approved.

The sum of $50 was approved for a tax roll book and collector's bond. The amount of $5,972 for teachers' salaries was finally approved after John Heneberry had raised the question as to how the trustees could estimate the cost of hiring the teachers and what were the salaries paid now. Trustee DeCicco replied that it was the intention to pay the same salaries as last year, they being $40 for the principal, $33 for two teachers, and $30 for two other teachers.

The item of text books was excluded from the budget on the motion of John Heneberry.

An item of $50 for instruction supplies was cut to $20, on motion of Frank Carpio.

The sum of $1,800 for outside tuition was approved.

Another instruction expense item was also eliminated.

The janitor's wages of $600 were reduced on the motion of John Heneberry to $42 per month or $504 per year.

The sum of $50 for janitor's supplies was approved.

An estimated cost of $450 for fuel was objected to by John Heneberry who, after Trustee DeCicco had stated that the fuel bill for the past year had been $405, made the motion, seconded by Frank Carpio, that the sum of $325 be set aside for fuel. This motion was carried.

An item under the heading of light and power, called for $200, and was approved after DeCicco stated that the electric bill was roughly $20 per month.

A sum of $100 for the care of the school grounds was eliminated.

An item for the repair of the school buildings calling for $700 was objected.

An estimate for the repair of equipment of $200 was also eliminated.

The sum of $100 for health service was approved.

The sum of $1,800 for transportation was approved.

The rent of the annex, listed at $240 per year, was objected to by John Heneberry. Trustee DeCicco stated that the rent last year had been $180 but had since been raised. James Naccarato, speaking for the St. Liberata Society, owners of the annex, said that in 1929 the district had agreed to pay $20 per month for 10 months for the use of the annex, and this sum was paid until 1933 when the society had reduced the rent because of the depression to $15 per month. In the past year the sum of $123 had been paid by the owners for repairs to the building and the additional rent of five dollars a month over a 12-month period was now asked because more repairs were necessary for the benefit of the children. The question of why the children could not be housed in the regular school building arose, and Principal James A. Lynch answered that it would be almost impossible to take care of them in the present school proper. He said that there were 188 pupils in the school at present and about 200 were expected to register in September. The original sum of $240 was approved.

An insurance item calling for $175 was approved.

Some discussion concerning $400 to be spent for books and the school library was heard, but the sum was finally approved.

12 Items Accepted as Read

The result of this voting on the items of the proposed budget separately was that 12 of the items were accepted as read, five were eliminated and three were changed. The total of the approved budget was $12,786, a reduction of $1,251 from the original submitted by the trustees. A ballot vote on the entire revised budget was taken with the result that it was adopted by a vote of 55 to 2.

Treasury Balance

The regular school clerk, Thomas MacConnell, asked concerning a balance in the treasury, saying that it was advisable to haven't less than $3,000 on hand at the start of school in September as a precautionary measure in case the state money should not arrive until the following February. John Heneberry objected to this amount, saying that he thought the sum of $1,500 was sufficient as the people should not be made to pay excessive taxes. Thomas Dempsey and Anglo Quattiere collaborated in a motion that the sum of $1,500 be raised by taxation, to which Clerk MacConnell replied that this would probably leave no balance for next year. The motion was carried.

George Fay and Frank Carpio carried through a motion that all special meetings would be called the same as the annual meeting by the use of posted notices.

The committee appointed at the annual meeting to investigate the possibility of bringing formal charges against Michael DeCicco reported through Thomas Dempsey that such investigations had been made and the charges had been filed with the proper authorities.

Verbal Fireworks.

Rose Garofalo was the next speaker, starting the verbal fireworks that had been expected to feature the meeting. She first attacked

Wins With Dickens

Laura Hoover Loomis (above), Los Angeles society girl, won an annual suit from Homer Leslie Loomis, Jr., of New York. She told how her husband, then a Princeton student, made her read Dickens' famous story, "A Mad Man's Manuscript," in a darkened room two days after their dawn marriage in 1935.

Trustee John Crespiro, accusing him of calling the people "dumb," and when she had talked with him some time before the meeting and stated her intentions of packing up and moving out of the district, she reported him as saying that "She could pack up and move and the rest could go with her."

The late woman next turned on Trustee DeCicco, saying he was "so damn dumb" that he had hired a Miss O'Connor for a teacher, who had called the people of East Kingston "mud diggers, wops, and pick-shoveles."

Then because the Freeman reporter happened to be sitting between Trustees DeCicco and Crespiro and conversing with them, she addressed him as a "four-eyed monkey," being irritated at his association with the embattled trustees.

Thomas Carpio and Frank Carpio put through a motion calling for the resignation of the trustees, but neither of the gentlemen had any statement to make.

Rose Garofalo again bounced up and stated that she had four children attending the school, she thought the building was a fire trap and she wanted modern teachers for her children. She further said that Michael DeCicco was her uncle "but he was a liar nevertheless."

Cause of Wrath

The question of an argument that arose between Principal Lynch and Mrs. Garofalo last fall concerning one of her sons, was the next topic to be given an airing. Principal Lynch stated that Mrs. Garofalo had come to him and asked that her son be allowed to take two years work in one year so that he could graduate.

This request was refused by Lynch on the grounds that he was hired to give the children an education and was not there to shove them through school as fast as possible. Mrs. Garofalo took the matter to Trustee DeCicco who says that she asked that he fire Principal Lynch but that he had told the aroused woman that he could not fire him because he had not hired him. This question of the graduation of Mrs. Garofalo's son brought forth a heated tirade from Mrs. Garofalo against DeCicco, and the woman ended her remarks with, "I'm not afraid of nobody, that's why this is a free country."

Thomas Dempsey brought up the subject of the right of the trustees to borrow money from the school funds, and finally a motion was made and carried that the trustees could not borrow any money from the school funds unless a special meeting was called for the purpose of gaining the sanction of the taxpayers.

After several attempts to adjourn were lost, the meeting finally came to an end. Three deputy sheriffs were again in attendance but no form of physical violence was evident as the aroused people resorted to words to describe their respective feelings.

Catholic Press Activity

Rochester, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—The guns of the nation's Catholic press were trained today against the advance of Communism and dictatorships. Delegates to the 27th annual meeting of the Catholic Press Association, representing a majority of the country's 313 Catholic publications, yesterday heard three church executives vigorously attack the two forces.

Most constipation comes from faulty diet—meals low in "bulk." This condition can be corrected so easily and pleasantly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides the safe way to prevent constipation by putting "bulk" back in the diet. Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass which gently sponges out the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. It is so much better for your family than constant dosing with artificial pills and drugs.

Resurrection of The Ulster County Society in New York

Monday evening, May 17, will long be remembered by 40 sons of old Ulster who gathered informally at a Rip Van Winkle Dinner held at the Hotel Brevoort in New York city.

This group met for the purpose of resurrecting and renewing the Ulster County Society in the City of New York. This organization was founded by the late Joseph Drake, who served as secretary for many years.

Robert A. Davis, president of the society, presided at the dinner and acted as toastmaster. Grace was offered by the Rev. Fred Burgevin, son of the late George Burgevin, of Kingston. Stanley O. Styles, secretary of the organization, read telegrams, letters, and cards from many of the members, expressing regrets for their absence and best wishes for the dinner.

Kingston was ably represented by the pertinent remarks and wit of MacDonald DeWitt, the interesting anecdotes of Colonel Gordon Reel, and the wry humor of Philip Fitzpatrick. Cluett Schantz and Martin Schantz spoke for Highland and Southern Ulster, while Ira J. Strong and Herbert Van Buskirk spoke for Saugerties.

President Davis called on each member present for personal expressions and suggestions which would create plans for revitalizing the society. Each member pledged to work for new members in the society and to start plans for another meeting in September, at which time the officers would be elected for the ensuing year and plans made for the annual dinner and banquet.

The dinner was arranged by the following members: William Winter, chairman, Robert A. Davis, Rufus Cole Van Aken, Ira J. Strong, Luther Osterhout, Fred Lockwood, Stanley O. Styles.

Among those at the dinner were Sanford Magee, John McE. Garman, Frederick W. Kristeller, Fred D. Lockwood, Charles R. McNamee, Charles P. Stewart, Herbert Van Buskirk, J. O. Stewart, J. P. Oster-

Motoring in the Canadian Rockies provides one of the unforgettable thrills of a vacation spent in Canada, and of all the routes open to motorists the most spectacular is that linking the Prairies with the Pacific, which traverses the two great mountain playgrounds, Banff and Yoho National Parks, and furnishes access to such well known tourist resorts as Banff, Lake Louise, Moraine Lake, Emerald Lake, and the wonderful Yoho Valley.

Federation of Women's Clubs Hear Report of President Mrs. Fraser

At the annual meeting of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs held last week in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, Mrs. J. C. Fraser, president, gave the following annual report:

"Members of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs and Friends: "It is with regret that I preside at the last meeting of the fiscal year. The work has been interesting and the contacts pleasant. Perhaps we have not accomplished all we strove to do, but on the whole the year has been successful.

"There have been held eight meetings of the executive board; three meetings of the Federation as a whole; one formal luncheon, and one informal luncheon; all of which I have been privileged to attend. I also attended the annual state convention in New York in the fall; the mid-winter board meeting in New York in February; and the third district meeting in Chatham in April.

"Two of the Federation meetings were accompanied by the most inclement weather, in October, snow; and in March, a deluge of rain; but in spite of the weather the meetings were attended fairly well. Each time speakers brought interesting and thought provoking messages. The tea tables were very attractively arranged and the refreshments delicious. Those who failed to attend, missed much!

"We carried on the customary work of the organization. We gave generously to the regular charities and added a few more. We donated as usual to the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., V. F. W., American Legion, TB maintenance, TB seal, Camp Happyland, also W. C. T. U.; birthday gift, flood relief, Industrial Home and Christmas Cheer Fund. We cooperated with the city in the flower show by a Colonial display. We cooperated with the third and ninth districts in the meeting last week. We sponsored a play by the Players Guild. It was not a tremendous financial success, but I feel that we accomplished much, by encouraging the members of the guild in their ambitions, to fill their leisure time with worthwhile and clean amusement.

"Our formal luncheon in January was one of the social highlights of the season. It was well attended, and extremely well planned under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Ward Brigham. We were fortunate in having Mrs. Samuel Scott as the speaker for the day. The comments on the affair were many and very complimentary.

"I wish to thank the officers, chairmen of committees, clubs and members who cooperated in any way to the success of this year. To those who worked so willingly when asked, I am more than grateful; to those who attended the board meetings so loyally, you were an inspiration for me to do my best, and to the members who cooperated materially or by their presence at meetings and other affairs connected with the Federation, your encouragement is much appreciated.

"May I extend to the outgoing officers, the appreciation of the Federation and myself, for the splendid, gracious manner in which you carried on your tasks."

The Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Stoketee of Washington avenue are entertaining at their house guest, Miss Jennie Stoketee, of Chicago, Ill.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Heard of Orlando street announce the engagement of their daughter, Beatrice, to George Dunbar, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Dunbar, of Elmendorf street. The wedding will take place in the near future.

Last Wednesday Miss Mary Roosa was guest of honor at a surprise party given in honor of her 20th birthday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Raymond Tator of Abel street. Games were played and at a late hour delicious refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tator and son, Raymond and daughter, Dorothy; Mrs. Natoli, Mrs. Gene Perry and daughter, Jean; Mrs. Hugh O'Neill and daughter, Alice; Mrs. Anna Hutton and daughter, Edna; and the Misses Mabel Henderson, Betty Brown, Agnes Henderson, Leah and Phyllis Natoli; and James Malone, John Sweeney, James Sweeney, and Tony Natoli.

Aviators May Start Race in Canada

Chicago, May 21 (AP)—Aviation circles buzzed with comment today over an announcement by Jimmy Mattern, noted flyer, that Canada probably will be the starting point for a trans-Atlantic air race to Paris. New York originally was selected but the Department of Air Commerce announced disapproval of the proposed air derby, sponsored by the French Air Ministry and the Aero Club of France to commemorate the Lindbergh flight.

Mattern, who twice attempted a round-the-world flight, said last night prominent Canadian business men were interested in launching the race and that he had cabled French officials to revise plans accordingly. The Chicago pilot said he and Henry T. (Dick) Merrill, trans-Atlantic flyer, conferred yesterday with Toronto business men. Mattern said Mitchell Hepburn, Prime Minister of Ontario, also was receptive to the proposal.

Mattern said he would enter the race as a representative of the state of Texas while Merrill would compete as the official Canadian entry. He added there were 22 entries, most of them representing European governments.

May Queen Reigns At High School

ure. In providing such ideal weather Nature is, indeed, in harmony with our spirit. The May Day festival is one of the traditions handed down to us from Kingston Academy and, for that reason, one which we cherish. In accordance with the dictates of custom the Senior Class has selected for its midst, eight most attractive girls, one to act as Queen of the May, the others to serve as her attendants. Now, as the initial step in the program, it is my great privilege to crown Miss Betty Schwarzwald, Queen of the May."

Rising and quieting the applause, the May Queen addressed her subjects:

Mr. President, fellow students, ladies and gentlemen. We have gathered here today to celebrate Kingston High School's annual May Day festival. I should like to take this opportunity to thank my classmates for bestowing the honor of May Queen upon me. May I also thank you, our relatives and friends for your continued interest in our festivities.

May Day has generally been regarded as a time for gladness. During the Middle Ages it was customary for all—both high and low—to go out on May Day morning and bring in fresh flowers. The most conspicuous feature of the festive proceedings was the erection in every town and village of a May Pole, about which the people danced and made merry during the remainder of the day.

However, some of the religious sects in this country thought these proceedings too gay and they were discontinued. But now, once again, May Day is celebrated by young and old alike.

I am sure that the students of this school look forward to this annual occasion and I hope that you will all enjoy the festivities which they have prepared for you.

Once again, let me thank you for your interest in Kingston High School and bid you welcome to our merry-making.

At the conclusion of the Queen's address of welcome, the royal entertainers presented a program of dances, races and drills for the crowd's pleasure.

The first of these events was the Boy's Pole vault in which Hoyt Winfield, Joe Stahl, and Milton Tisler showed their skill.

Then followed a group of musicians known in court circles as the Harmonica Band. This group was composed of:

Members—Don Hicks, leader; Francis Kahler, yodeler; George Huthstetter, Carl Huthstetter, Donald Burgher, Edwina Schultz, Charley Myers, Charley Faulkner, Jack Carter, Frank Wood, Cliff Every and Al Fassbender.

One of the most spirited contests was the chariot races between members of the four classes. Each class had its own distinguishing colors of green for the Seniors, blue for the Juniors, yellow for the Sophomores and red for the Freshmen. The Junior boys and the Sophomore girls were the winners and were rewarded by being allowed to kiss the queen's hand.

Those competing in the chariot race were:

Senior boys—Roger Salzman, Richard Pfeiffer, Marie Nenni (rider).
Senior girls—Dorothy Messinger, Marjory Tease, Florence Rafalowsky (rider).

Junior boys—John Bailey, Robert Marasca, Jean Larkin (rider).
Junior girls—Jean Wright, Ruth Britt, James Norton (rider).

Sophomore boys—Charles Cooke, William Cole, Frances Doble (rider).
Sophomore girls—Dolores Gillen, Elizabeth Schoonmaker, Paul Cahill (rider).

Freshman boys—Hydrect Armstrong, Thomas Brown, Viola Smith (rider).
Freshman girls—Elizabeth Glass, Rosamund Burgher, John Rowland (rider).

Next a group of boys came forward to entertain her majesty with a Pyramid Drill. Those participating were: Bill Powers, Frank Doble, Jack Fallon, Frank Mazzuca, Jack Rice, Selwyn Tucker, Bill Studer, George Anderson, Clarence Post, Alfred Cecelia, Peter Savaskie, John Ennis, Robert Libby, Robert Hawkesley, Ernest Sabo and Ronald Cashin.

The colors for the classes competing in the intermural relay races were the same as before. This time the Freshman girls and the Junior boys were the winners. Those competing were:

Senior boys—Richard Pfeiffer, Roger Salzman, Philip Mohr and Donald Britt.

Freshman boys—Thomas Brown, Hydrect Armstrong, John Rowland, John Hogan.

Freshman girls—Mary Stopeynsky, Joan Dutcher, Mary Saddlemeier, Rosamund Burgher.

Next to pay homage to the Queen was a group of girls in an Athletic Jubilee Dance drill:

The traditional May Pole dance closed the entertainment. This dance was given by the following girls:

Bernadette Brick, Helen Fitzsimmons, Anne Ashley, Nancy Boles, Ruth Wilbur, Helen Crystal, Arlene Freudenburgh, Frieda Feldman, Marion Woloskie, Louise Shultis, Marion DuBois, Catherine Gill, Rhoda Neher, Natalie Winters, Jane Brown, Winifred Davis, Virginia Hoffman, Betty Britt, Elaine Johnson, Dorothy Gerry, Florence Morton, Marjory Delaney, Louise Macelline, Sylvia Sable, Elsie Taylor, Genevieve Whiteley, Margaret Eleanor, Eleanor Shurter, Mary Van Valkenburg.

One of the most important events was the announcement of the winners of the Maroon Literary contest. To secure these prizes is one of the highest honors that a student can receive.

The awards in the Junior-Senior division follow: First prize awarded to Ethel Moncure for her story entitled "Lighthouse in Swamp Sumac."

Second prize also awarded to Miss Moncure for her poem "Pegasus is Blain." Honorable mention in the Junior-Senior division is accorded Adam Moncure, brother of Ethel, for a group of poetic works.

In the Freshman-Sophomore division, first prize was earned by Jean Sobsey, whose poetic work "Atropos to a Lady" earned prize winning recognition. Second prize was awarded to Lillian Miller for her story titled "It Might Have Been," with honorable mention in this group going to Erma Tigar in recognition of her story, "Our Team Won—"

A new feature this year was the awarding of a prize to the best costume among the spectators. This was awarded to Miss Myrtle Schoonmaker.

Musical interludes during the program were provided by the High School Band under the direction of Miss Eva Clinton, with Paul Young as student director. The production was staged with the consent and cooperation of the Kingston High School Faculty and under the direction of Mrs. Smith with the assistance of Kenneth Anderson, boys' physical instructor, and Carl Studer and Irving Rose, assistants. The radio hookup for broadcasting the speeches was supplied by Clark's Radio Service.

This year the May Queen and her attendants carried on the tradition established last year of wearing Grecian costumes. The colorful pageantry, athletic competitions and dances made the May Day celebrations fully satisfying to the many spectators.

500 Miners on Strike 360 Feet in Earth

Gillespie, Ill., May 21 (AP)—Voluntarily entombed 360 feet below the earth's surface, approximately 500 miners settled down to an underground existence today after a jolli, near-sleepless night inaugurating a sit-down strike in the Superior Coal Company's No. 4 mine at Wilcoxville.

The strike was called late yesterday to support demands for a share-the-work plan with 300 employees of the company made idle last week by the closing of another pit for repairs. Laughing and singing the men underground carried their carefree demonstration into the early morning hours. Seventy of the older men, those between 65 and 70 years of age, were sent to the surface by the pit committee to spare them the hardships of the self-imposed entombment.

The others—hardy young men of 26 and gray haired veterans of the pit twice their age and more—were determined, said John Fisher, president of Local No. 1 of the Progressive Miners of America, "to stick it out to the last."

Young Capone Near Death. Chicago, May 21 (AP)—Matthew Capone, 29, younger brother of Al, America's first "Public Enemy No. 1," was near death in a hospital today from a skull fracture suffered in an automobile accident in suburban Cicero.

Quiet Restored At Hudson Factory

Hudson, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—Quiet was restored today at the picketed Mohawk Novelty Company plant, scene of a clash yesterday in which a girl worker was injured.

Sheriff Milton V. Saulpaugh withdrew extra deputies sent to the plant after approximately 40 workers and pickets had engaged in a brief brush. Meanwhile Miss Anna Butler, a picket, won an adjournment until tomorrow after pleading innocent in city court. A disorderly conduct charge. Policeman Joseph Atkinson said she had thrown a stone at the plant.

Pickets have been stationed at the factory, which employs 150 persons, for nearly seven weeks as the result of a dispute over union recognition.

U. S.-Japanese Problems Told

Japan has, and takes nearly one-third of Japan's exports. Japan is one of the best customers that America has, and buys more goods from America than all other nations in the East combined, including the Philippine Islands. Up to 1931 the balance of trade has usually been a balance to Japan; but during the last six years it has been favorable to America.

Japan's chief export to America is silk. America's principal export to Japan is raw cotton. Raw silk and raw cotton furnish more than one-half of the American-Japanese trade. This fact makes it clear that the predominant portion of the American-Japanese trade is not competitive, but complementary. In the way of commerce the two countries need each other. The Japanese goods that are competing with American made goods constitute only five per cent of the total Japanese export to the United States.

As history shows, the expansion of modern industry and commerce creates competition; and competition sometimes causes a problem to arise between nations. It is chimerical to think that trade between modern nations, like trade between primitive peoples, can be carried on without competition; it is still more chimerical to think that a problem arising from competition can be solved by consultation and mutual agreement. As we all know, no nation can sell any more than she buys; no nation can buy any more than she sells.

We are confident that the United States and Japan will continue to cooperate to develop their mutually beneficial trade that amounts to no less than $400,000,000 a year even in these hard times. It is to be regretted that the China question had hitherto been a source of irritation in the American-Japanese relations. Some writers maintain that America's Far Eastern policy is based on the Hay Doctrine of 1899 and on the Nine Power Treaty of 1922, and that the United States would be compelled to intervene in affairs of East Asia if she wanted to uphold her traditional policy. Putting it in another way, they believe that a rise of the Japanese influence in China is bound to cause a real trouble between the United States and Japan. This is of course too broad a subject to discuss here. I wish to point out, however, that though Japan's China policy appears at times to be intricate and perplexing, its basic principles are very simple: (1) Self preservation.

(2) The maintenance of peace and order in East Asia. I state cogently that the Japanese people have no thought of injuring or destroying America's economic interests in China; and that the United States and Japan, as the facts show, are not competing for the trade of China. As every one knows, China and Japan are closely related in blood and culture, and for centuries these two nations have lived side by side in peace until the powerful empire of Russia determined on aggression, appeared upon the Far Eastern horizon. There is every reason to believe that these two Oriental nations can come to understand each other better despite the many grievances they now have against each other. They, as next door neighbors, are destined either to cooperate or to go down in ruin together. To my way of thinking, the fuller realization of this truth in both China and Japan is one sure way to improve the Sino-Japanese relations.

Speaking about the Russo-Japanese relations, it was in 1924 that Japan recognized the Soviet Government. From that time on, the two nations, despite some problems confronting them, have been able to maintain peace. It is true that Communism is inconsistent with our existing social order and governmental system. But we are not concerned about what the Soviet leaders intend to do within their domain. What a serious concern to us is the activity of Comintern or the Communist International in East Asia. Japan will never tolerate the peace and security of the Far East endangered by this internationally ramified revolutionary organization. Fortunately, the trend in Russia today appears to be rather away from the Communist International than toward it. The point I am driving at is this. Japan has no thought of going to war with Russia. Japan's concern is not Communism in Russia, but the activity of the Communist International in the Far East.

One more point. Then I am ready to give a conclusion to this talk. What is the background of the economic and political system of modern Japan? Is it fundamentally inconsistent with that of your own country? Let me try to answer these questions in the briefest possible way. In the course of her modernization or Westernization, Japan adopted a Capitalistic system. What was the result? She has not escaped the defects of that system. She is, therefore, engaged in the readjustment of it. Her aim is not to abandon but to maintain that economic system—Capitalism—which she has imported from the West, and to improve it, gradually and progressively, in the way suited to her own conditions.

The assertion that the Japanese people live under a dictatorship of militarism is not convincing to me. Let me tell you why. As Japanese history shows, Feudalism in Japan, which came into being in the twelfth century, was brought to an end in 1867. Thus, seventy years ago, the nation started preparation for national assembly. She finally promulgated the National Constitution, adopted a parliamentary form of government.

Parliamentarism in Japan today is as yet far from being what it should be. But we have worked for its adoption, maintenance improvement, and perfection for the last 70 years. I have reason to believe that the majority of the Japanese people firmly maintain their belief in parliamentarism and definitely opposed to Fascism or any other kind of dictatorship. I am of the opinion that the background of the economic and political system of modern Japan, if not identical with that of your own country, is at least strikingly similar. In conclusion, let me repeat what I have said at the outset of this talk. We live in an age confronted with many difficulties. We do not as yet live in the age of the World State; we still live in the age of so-called Nation-States. In fact, we live in an age of nationalism—armed nationalism. Every great power maintains a big army and navy. It is idle to deny that every nation today, regardless of the form of government, is more or less nationalistic, militaristic, and imperialistic, by imperialistic I mean backing not only by military force but with money power. It is this lamentable, mortifying age in which we live, and not any one particular nation, that should be blamed for the unhappy conditions now existing in the world.

We will all agree that nationalism has a strong tendency to inspire militarism and produce imperialism. But after all what is nationalism? Most scholars seem to agree that nationalism is "a state of mind"; hence, it can be controlled. We believe, we insist, that nationalism should be controlled and directed by sane and sound politics so as to promote the highest interest of humanity and civilization even as healthy men make the best use of appetite by protecting it. Do not misunderstand me. I am not a nationalist. I believe in both nationalism and internationalism, but not in extreme nationalism, nor in extreme internationalism. I am neither an extreme idealist nor an extreme realist. I believe in the gradual and progressive improvement of the existing international economic and political relations, bringing the nations of the world into a better understanding of each other's problems and needs, spirit and character, hopes and aspirations.

I thank you.

In an interview immediately after the dinner meeting, Mr. Yamamoto was asked two questions concerning Japan's population problem and the Japanese standard of wages and living. The lecturer kindly consented to answer both of them in a written statement which follows:

Is Japan really confronted with the population problem?

There can be no doubt that Japan is one of the nations that live under the pressure of population. I, however, think that the problem need not be exaggerated. An average annual increase in Japanese population during recent years added a quarter of a million souls. The rate of increase in a period of five years preceding 1935 has declined slightly in comparison with the rate of increase in the corresponding five years preceding 1930. Most authorities on this problem agree that by 1950 or thereabouts Japan's population will become stationary, and may even begin to decline slightly.

Is it true that the standard of living and wages in Japan are extremely low in comparison with those in America and other occidental nations?

The question you ask has much to do with not only labor conditions but

Nature Lends Aid To Army Camouflage

Gun crews in gas masks unlimber anti-aircraft guns that are camouflaged to resemble Joshua trees of the desert at the Army's G.H.Q. air force maneuvers at Muroc Dry Lake, Cal.

with vital economic problems confronting Japan today. Let me present to you some seemingly important facts, from which you may draw your own conclusion.

The program Japan is following in solution of the problem of subsistence arising from the pressure of population is neither immigration nor birth control but further industrialization and further expansion of commerce.

Japan lacks raw materials essential for modern industry. She imports them, and then she exports the manufactured goods.

The lack of raw materials compels her to follow one well defined program, namely, to find existence in co-existence.

Japanese sell their manufactured goods at moderate prices. The quality of goods they sell in these days is no longer poor as it was years ago. Naturally this causes a problem to arise between Japan and the other industrial nations where the standards of living and wages are higher than those in Japan; but at the same time this serves to prevent a shrinkage of consumption among the people whose buying power is limited.

Conditions of labor in Japan are not satisfactory. Wages ought to be increased, working conditions of wage-earners should be improved. But it is erroneous to assume that labor conditions in Japan are "bad". Why?

The nations of the world differ in size, population, natural resources, social structure and customs—the factors which determine the income of workmen as well as the income of other members of society. If we, by giving due consideration to these factors, find that the earned income of the Japanese workman is below his actual expenditure, we are then justified in saying that labor conditions in Japan are "bad".

An average monthly income of the married factory-workman in Japan is about 85 yen, out of which he spends about 75 yen, leaving a balance of about 10 yen.

The difference of the value of the dollars and the value of yen depends upon where the money is spent. When the yen stays at home, it buys full value as does the dollar.

Man's happiness does not depend upon money alone. The amount of money a man receives in his pay-envelope need not be the criterion of his mental and physical state of well-being.

Workmen in Japan are fully as healthy and happy, as clean and self-respecting, as workmen elsewhere.

Williams Case to Be Resumed Monday

Judge Russell adjourned the May trial term of Supreme Court Thursday afternoon until 11 o'clock Monday morning when the Hudson Counties Estates, Inc., action against Gust Williams and others will be resumed. Justice Russell is holding his regular special term at Troy today.

Hudson Counties Estates, Inc., is bringing an action to set aside a deed which was given by the Williams Lake Company to Fannie and G. Walter Williams, claiming that the transfer was made to avoid meeting a deficiency judgment which was later secured following the sale of another parcel of land owned by the company. Defendant claims that the sale was a proper transfer for which the sum of $3,580 was paid in money and services. Testimony was also given to the effect that at the time of the transfer of the small parcel to Fannie and G. Walter Williams from the Williams Lake Corporation, the corporation owned another tract of land of some 500 acres.

Testimony as to assessed valuation and actual value of the property took up some time Thursday afternoon in court.

Sales of Motor Fuel Increase

Albany, N. Y., May 21.—Sales of motor fuel in New York state during the first quarter of 1937 show an increase of 45,784,063 gallons over the same period last year, Mark Graves, commissioner of taxation and finance revealed today. At the same time he announced that taxable sales gained by 42,416,870 gallons and that consumption for each of the three months of the present calendar year was substantially greater than during the corresponding month of 1936.

The sugar maple is "the most valuable forest tree in northwestern United States," in the opinion of Prof. J. A. Cope of the Cornell Agricultural extension service. Pointing out that 2,325,000 trees in New York and Vermont alone yielded a crop of sap valued at $1,000,000 last year, Prof. Cope said these states produce two-thirds of the nation's sugar and syrup yield.

Nazi Gestapo Shouts "Treason!"

good men, women and children from their church and God."

Demand "Call to Order."

Berlin, May 21 (AP)—The controlled Nazi press renewed its attacks against American Jews and Catholics today and demanded that the Vatican "call to order" George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago for attacks on Adolf Hitler.

The outbursts were extended to include not only the Cardinal but Catholics and Jews generally and Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York, in particular.

Under the caption of "half-raising immorality in New York high schools," the official news agency distributed an item throughout Germany charging that there had been wholesale bootlegging of contraceptives among students of Brooklyn high schools.

"This action by the board of education," the dispatch said, "is further evidence of what unbridled things are possible in this city under the eyes of the Jew LaGuardia."

The agency said Brooklyn is inhabited "chiefly by Jews and Catholics," and added that the investigation showed "high school pupils were working hand in hand with gangsters who supplied them with contraceptives."

(An investigation is being made by District Attorney William F. X. Googhan of Brooklyn into what he termed immorality among high school students in that borough.)

Definite Showdown.

The press generally insisted on a definite showdown with the Vatican over Cardinal Mundelein's description of the Reichschancellor as a "poor one at that" and of German trials of priests and lay brothers on immoral charges as worse propaganda than the atrocity tales of the World War.

The Lokalanzeiger in a special article based on an interview with States Attorney Martin J. Bonn said the church had been given a long period of grace to "cleanse" religious orders but had done nothing.

Hence, the paper declared, the state was obliged to intervene "not for the satisfaction of sending priests to jail but because the state alone is able to eradicate the evils."

The Catholic Church was described as defending the condition it was powerless to end because of "the question of prestige."

Martin J. Bonn in the interview tabulated more than 1,000 alleged sex offenses which resulted in charges against priests and lay brothers of the church.

The fortnightly issue of Gen. Ludendorff's neo-paganist magazine, in an article by his wife, Dr. Mathilde Ludendorff, blamed the immorality cases on the institution of celibacy among the clergy.

The paper contended that because the church refused to abandon the system, it was "destroying itself through its clotters and involuntarily helping to clear the way for the German faith."

Legion Will Hold Meeting Tonight

Tonight the regular meeting of Kingston Post, American Legion, will be held in the Memorial Building at West O'Reilly street, starting at 8 o'clock, with Commander William T. Roedel presiding.

Several important matters will be discussed, the commander said, among them plans for Poppy Day, and a discussion concerning Memorial Day parade plans which were left incomplete at a recent meeting of the committee in charge of arranging them.

Morton Finch, representative of the Legion at the Memorial Day committee meeting, has reported that because interest is lacking on the part of other organizations in the city, the committee decided to abandon arrangements for a parade.

In his report, Finch, a past commander of Kingston Post, expressed regret at having to inform Commander Roedel of the failure.

Commander Roedel said he was wholly against doing away with the Memorial Day Parade, a means of showing respect to heroes who sacrificed their lives, or passed on after risking all for their country.

Committee Finch's report also reflected the Legion's head that there would be no exercises at the memorial auditorium, either, because of poor cooperation.

Commander Roedel, it is presumed, will call all of Kingston Post into action tonight on the Memorial Day plans, and according to sentiment unofficially expressed, he will have the undivided support of all ex-servicemen in arranging some sort of ceremonies to honor Uncle Sam's departed servicemen.

Talking to a reporter today, Roedel said, "We Legionnaires inherited this great privilege of honoring the country's defenders from the Grand Army of the Republic, and I feel that we should carry on as they did until the ranks thinned and willing hands became too feeble."

The Sons of Veterans, an organization comprising relatives of Civil War veterans, take care of decorating graves every Memorial Day, and help in arranging exercises to show respect to the defenders of the constitution. This organization showed others but in general Kingston's fraternal bodies failed to send representatives to the committee meeting.

Production Resumed

Detroit, May 21 (AP)—Production was resumed today in the Ecocore plant of the Murray Corporation after an overnight shutdown by workers objecting to the speed of production. Representatives of the union and management met during the night and came to an agreement, terms of which were not immediately disclosed.

Brockelhursts Get Attorney to Defend Son at His Trial

London, Ark., May 21 (AP)—Lester Brockelhurst, 23-year-old confessed hitch-hike killer, awaited in his cell today the attorney his parents said they would hire despite his claim that he wants no defense in his trial for life.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Brockelhurst, Galesburg, Ill., motored here yesterday and spent an hour with their son and Bernice Felton, his 18-year-old traveling companion who also is charged with murder in the death of Victor A. Gates, Little Rock landowner.

Before they left for Little Rock to employ an attorney for their son, the Brockelhursts said Abraham Felton, father of Bernice, was expected here next week.

After his parents left, Brockelhurst refused to say whether he wanted the services of the attorney or whether he had changed his frequently expressed wish to go to the electric chair as soon as possible, and get it over with.

Brockelhurst's parents said they would remain in Arkansas until after his trial. County authorities plan to arraign Brockelhurst and his girl friend next Monday. Circuit Judge W. J. Waggoner said he would set the trial for the latter part of next week, the first week in June.

The elder Brockelhurst, an interior decorator, declined to discuss his son's predicament.

Mr. and Mrs. Brockelhurst said Lester had been subject to fainting spells most of his life. They were accompanied here by a six-year-old son.

Sheriff Troy Carroll barred the public today from the fourth story jail. Residents had been permitted to view the prisoners since their arrival Wednesday from New York where they were apprehended driving Gates' automobile.

Deputy Prosecutor Joe P. Melton said Brockelhurst told him he expected to go to heaven. Melton said the prisoner discussed his conception of the hereafter at great length, saying that he believed there were three regions of heaven and that he was destined for the lowest region.

"He told me," Melton said, "that the sight of blood made him sick although the sight of his victim's blood did not bother him."

"I have been 17 years in this business and Brockelhurst is as cool and calculating a man as I ever saw. He is shrewd and smart."

Melton said both Brockelhurst and Miss Felton read magazines of the "best type" in their jail cells.

"Neither of them go in for blood and thunder stuff."

Feller Takes Long Rest

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill announced today that Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' youthful strikeout king would do no further pitching on the club's current eastern trip which ends May 27.

The Iowa youth has made only one appearance since he suffered the injury in his first American League start of the season, at Cleveland April 24. Against the Boston Red Sox Tuesday in a relief role he walked a batter on five pitches and was replaced immediately.

Asked how she felt about her husband continuing to fly in dirigibles, she hesitated, then laughed. "That is his profession," she said. "I know my husband. He will continue."

Hollywood
Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Blonde Barbara Pepper began her screen come-back, most unusually, after her first important leading role in a pretty important picture.

Usually a big role—hers was in King Vidor's "Our Daily Bread"—means that a girl in on her way. That was when Barbara decided, for romance, to retire.

And then she didn't marry the fellow after all, and pictures looked pretty attractive. So she started over, in bits.

"It was the best thing that ever happened to me," she says. "Some people said nice things about my performance in 'Our Daily Bread' but it was really King Vidor's performance. I was too young to be a good actress then. Before that picture, I'd had only two lines of dialog to speak. Mr. Vidor gave me the job because he heard me, from the next room, reading the script as I was preparing to meet him. If I had to take a regular screen test—I mean read it for him knowing I was reading it for him—I'd probably have been scared silly."

"Well, if I'd gone on just then I might have begun thinking I was pretty good and really an actress, instead of realizing that all the credit belonged to Mr. Vidor."

In bit roles during her comeback she played gangsters' molls and wise-cracking store girls and finally a 14-year-old girl in "M'liss." The latter role brought her an RKO contract.

"So now I've done a few very bad roles, one or two good ones, and a lot of in-between ones. Doing bits has given me time to crawl before walking."

"Today," she laughs, "I think I'm just a bit egotistical and a little bit of the ham is cropping out in me, but I know where I stand. I think I'm ready for the big chance, and when it comes I think I'll be able to handle it."

Born In Astor Hotel
Barbara will be 21 on May 31. She was born in the Astor hotel in New York city (her father had his office there too) and she grew up pretty well surrounded by show people. D. W. Griffith once wanted to use her in pictures, and Gus Edwards had ideas for her in one of his stage shows. But father said no both times. Although the family moved away, it was those childhood days that brought her to pictures eventually.

Mrs. Rosetta Wager, of Lyonsville, called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osterhoudt Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Spencer Traver spent Tuesday with Mrs. Oliver Baker and Mrs. Tracy Baker.

Island Ladies Win Met Golf Title

Upper Montclair, N. J., May 21 (AP).—For the fifth straight year Long Island won the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association inter-sectional matches yesterday when they set back squads from New Jersey and Westchester.

Although New Jersey's top players outplayed the visitors the higher handicapped golfers were unable to win enough points to regain for this state the trophy it has not won since 1931.

The final score was Long Island 20, Westchester 13½ and New Jersey 11½.

Mrs. William Hockenjos, Jr., of Crestmont, New Jersey champion, defeated Miss Marion Turpin, Long Island champion, and Mrs. Henry Dietrich, metropolitan champion, Miss Charlotte Glutting, Curtis Cup player, won over Miss Sylvia Annenberg of Long Island, and Mrs. Catherine Slinger Eastman of Westchester.

Mrs. Mars Relies on Ace and Military

Chicago, May 21 (AP).—Mrs. Ethel V. Mars will rely on Case Ace and Military to bring home the winner's share of the $12,000 added Illinois Derby purse tomorrow at Aurora.

The Mars' entry figured to go to the post a favorite in the mile and eighth test, although the withdrawal of Reaping Reward may make J. V. Parish's Delior, or Mrs. Emil Dene-mar's entry of Prairie Dog and Muscatine, the choice.

The race still shaped up as a 12-horse battle with five Kentucky Derby starters, Military, Delior, the Three D's stock farm's Heelity, the Shandon farm's Burning Star, and Raul Walsh's Sunset Trail II, in the field.

Kyanize Painters Make Start Against Berardis This Evening

Jack Dawkins' Kyanize Painters will make their first appearance in the City League when they meet Berardi A. C. at the Athletic Field this evening at 6:15 o'clock. The Painters are considered one of the best aggregations in the loop and a fast contest should result as Berardi always supply plenty of fast playing.

The Kyanize club is composed of mostly old veterans who have seen plenty of action in the City League. A few rookies also supplement the outfit. Leo Komosa will do the hurrying for the Painters with Gene Rider on the receiving end. The rest of the lineup will consist of Tony Debrose on first base, Andy Celuch at the midway station, Dolf Stumpf on the hot corner and Bob Sickler at shortstop.

Knight will patrol the outfield. "Spot" Cullen will be Manager Berardi's choice for mound duty. George Zadany will be stationed behind the bat. In the infield will be found Schatzel at first, Eddy Bock at second, DeCicco at third base and Turk at shortstop. Hopper, Benny Tiano and Tommy Berardi will take care of the outfield.

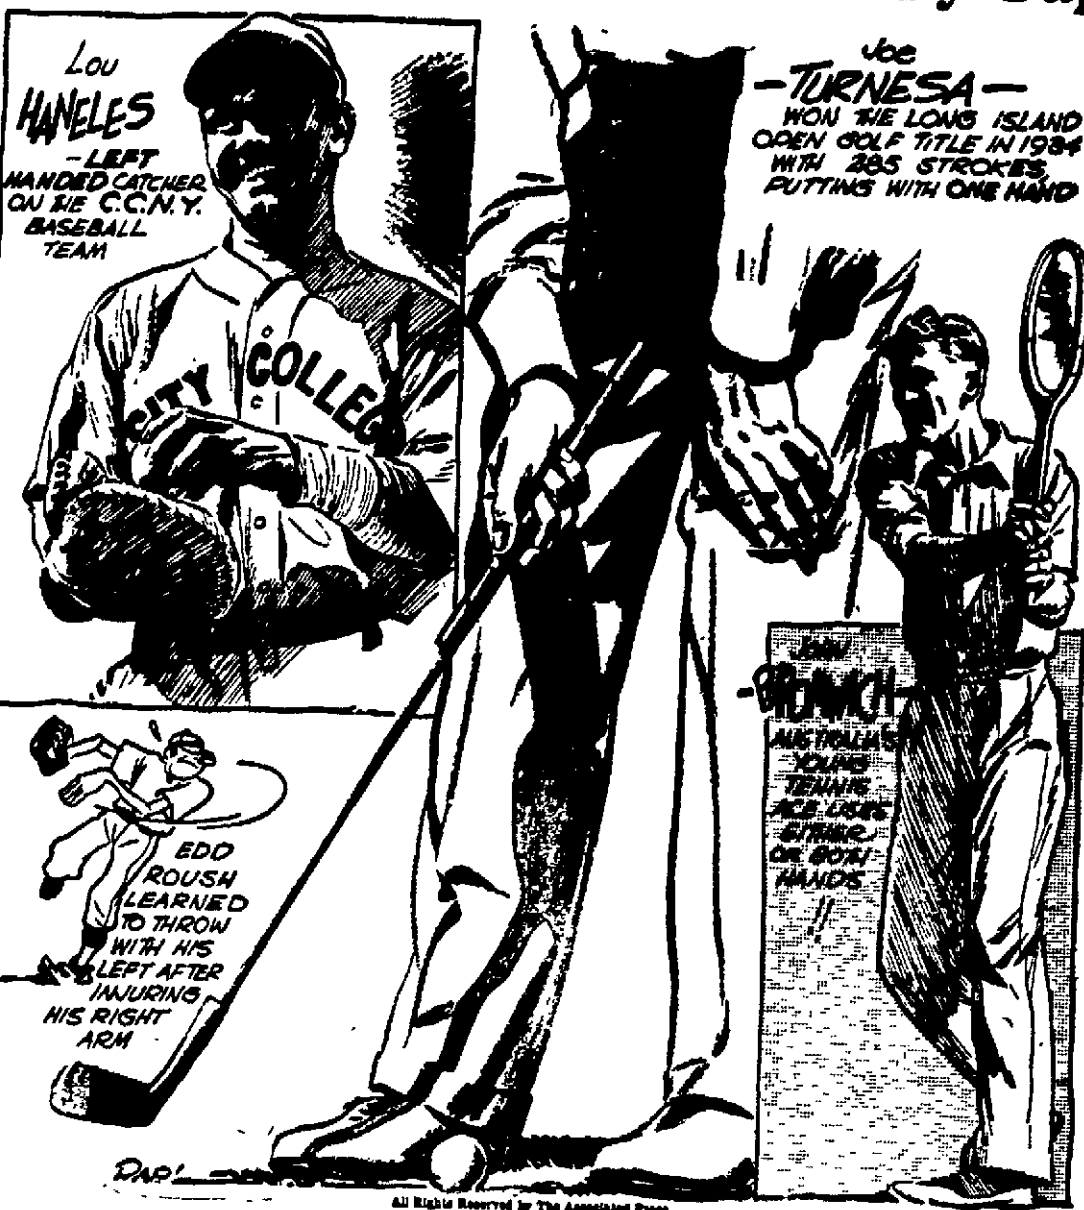

The Painters received new suits Thursday from Kantrowitz Brothers for tonight's contest.

Handies

In the old days, when a catcher played 'way back home plate and took the pitches on the first bounce, it really didn't make much difference whether he was right or left-handed. But when the game tightened up and the catcher moved to immediately behind the plate, southpaw mittmen became almost as extinct as the dodo.

Now, Lou Haneles is captain of the College of the City of New York baseball team, and what's more, he's a left-handed catcher. Most diamond fans would laugh at the idea. But it is all sane and simple when you are familiar with Lou Haneles' case.

Lou came to C. C. N. Y. with the reputation of being a mighty fine all-around ball player. He liked to play the game. The position made no difference. By choice he was a first baseman or an outfielder—the only jobs outside of pitching normally open to a left-hander.

A couple of seasons ago his team had a fairly capable first-sacker and several dependable outfielders. But it had no catcher worthy of the name. So it was natural for Haneles to bid for the backstop role. At first, the idea seemed silly. But Haneles had arguments to defend his position.

In recent years, he pointed out, ball players have seen the advantage of batting from the left. It actually shortens the distance to first base by a full stride. So the number of left-handed batters has increased.

The main reason left-handed catchers were frowned on was because of the difficulty such a catcher had in making a quick throw to first or to third when a right-hander was at bat. With the ever increasing number of left-handers in the batter's box, that argument no longer holds water.

At any rate, Haneles made good. Proving that a real ball player can play just about any position on the diamond. He expects to sign with the Boston Bees.

Kingston Netmen Compete Saturday in DUSO Matches

The Kingston High School varsity tennis squad will compete in the annual DUSO League tennis matches at Middletown Saturday afternoon.

Coach M. Joseph Block's five-man unit will clash with rival netmen from Newburgh, Liberty, Ellenville and other schools belonging to the four-county league. The local racquetmen are still without a dual match victory, having been bested by the powerful NFA array and the strong New York Military Academy unit. The meets tomorrow will be the third start of the season for the Maroon and White courtsters.

Headed by Bernie Gordon, No. 1 man, the local unit includes Art Jones, George Svirsky, Billy Newkirk and George Rifkenbary. Rifkenbary has been the lone local to capture a match to date, having bested his opponent in the New York Military Academy meet by scores of 6-1, 6-2. The burly racquetman has shown fine form and has rounded out a four-sports career at the high school.

All-DUSO football center, shot putter, first-string guard on the basketball team and a number five man on the current tennis team. Billy Newkirk, blond-haired recruit, has also been cavorting impressively on the court and holds the distinction of capturing a set from the power-laden Newburgh array. Svirsky has been slightly below form and has encountered a series of tough breaks but is due for one grand performance as are Gordon and Jones.

The Maroon squad has shown progressive improvement and should give a good account of itself in the DUSO matches tomorrow.

Wilbur Dodgers At Napanoch

Manager Meh Lynch, of the Wilbur Dodgers, will travel with his team to Napanoch Sunday, he announced today, leaving Feldman's filling station at 12:15 p. m. sharp. Starting time of the game is 2 o'clock.

Lynch's lineup will consist of Wea Hyatt, Bob Purvis, Red McLean, "Pucker" Davis, Ed Scully, Wilky Myers, Bob Styles, Bud Zoller, Fat Madden, Carl Studer, Frank O'Neil and "Mac" McLean will do the coaching.

Clos's Nine Will Rehearse Saturday

Angelo Clos of the Clos A. C., has announced practice for Saturday at 6:30 on Hasbrouck Park diamond in preparation for the team's game Sunday at Napanoch against the Chevrolets. Two other games in the schedule of the Clos are Indians at Hunter, May 26, and Sawkill at Sawkill May 31.

Kansas City—Ed (Strangler) Lewis, 245, Los Angeles, defeated Rudy La Ditzel, 235, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., two of three falls.

Hospital Troubles Big Problem in Major Leagues This Season

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

The whole thing doesn't make as much sense as an insane asylum, but the figures (which never lie) show the American League is off to a closer and more completely unlooked for start than it has seen in years.

On the face of performances to date, the whole business doesn't add up—but there it is. True, the hitting in a league that features offense is way off. But so is the pitching, so that shouldn't make all the difference.

By the end of the first month last year, five games separated first and fourth place. This season, the race was regarded as New York, Detroit, Cleveland and nothing much else. But so far it's been as tight as a mustard plaster all the way down the list—so close in fact, that only 4½ games separate the leaders of the moment. Cleveland's Indians, from the cellar-riding St. Louis Browns.

And most astonishing of all is that the longest of the long shots, Connie Mack's mystifying Athletics, are in second place, leading both the Yankees and the Tigers. They were on top until yesterday, but the Indians looked the tar out of the Boston Red Sox 16-5, while the A's dropped a 3-2 decision to the Tigers, which gave tribute the pace by a percentage margin.

Hottest of all right now are the reviving Washington Senators—and their sudden form reversal is just as explainable as the rest of the league's way. Although their pitching still is in a sorry state, the Nats are starting to hit, and on this strength alone have won their last four straight to climb from eighth to fifth. It took two twirlers and 12 innings before they finally overcame the Browns yesterday 5-4 on Ossie Bluege's timely single.

Thornton Lee found out the Yanks are still his "cousins." The White Sox southpaw became the first pitcher of the year to whip the hitless world champions twice by mugging them with three hits for a 3-1 win, there by dropping them to third place.

Altogether, every outfit but the Tigers and Browns changed places yesterday. Mickey Cochrane's crew held fourth with their decision over the Athletics, achieved through Roxie Lawson's sixth victory of the season. The Red Sox dropped to seventh; the White Sox, whipping the Yanks, advanced to sixth.

Featuring the National League lurching for the third straight day, the Giants and Cardinals wound up their three-game series with New York on top 7-4 on the strength of Dick Bartell's ninth inning homer with the bases loaded.

Roy Parmelee not only pitched a seven-hitter, but blasted a homer with two aboard as the Cubs eluded the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-1. Vince Di Maggio banged out a pair of homers and the Boston Bees knocked off the Reds 4-1. Pittsburgh's pace-setting Pirates cashed in on Bill Swift's six-run hitting for a 5-2 triumph over the Phillies.

Tagging Major League Bases

New York, May 21 (AP).—The cripples are beginning to recover, but for the first month or so of this baseball season major league managers have found it necessary to read hospital charts and X-ray plates, rather than batting averages, before they could name their daily lineups.

Disregarding spring-training troubles, every major league club has been affected to some extent by either illness or injury, with Chicago's Cubs easily topping the list.

The roll still is growing. Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox manager, suffered a cut cheek when a thrown ball hit him Monday. His regular catcher, Rick Ferrell, got a broken throwing hand the same afternoon. Then young Bob Feller of Cleveland, whose publicized sore arm had kept him idle since his first game, had a workout and remained in the game just long enough to walk one batsman.

The Cubs' hospital list now has dwindled considerably, but since the campaign began it has been something like this: Pitchers—Curt Davis, "dead" arm; Tex Carleton, chipped bone; Larry French, broken hand; Clay Bryant, flu; catchers, Gabby Hartnett, sore arm, then a split finger; Bob Garbarik, broken finger; Ken O'Dea and John Bortatnik, minor hurts; infielders, Bill Jurges, broken wrist; Bill Herman and Ripper Collins, minor injuries.

Operations Too

Two serious operations have been performed on prominent and ailing ball players. Paul Dean of the Cardinals, running-mate of his more famous brother, Dizzy, had a piece of cartilage removed from his shoulder in an effort to fix up the sore arm that forced him into retirement last season. Jake Powell of the Yankees had his appendix removed.

In addition the Yankees' young Joe DiMaggio was absent a while for removal of his tonsils after his throwing arm began to cause trouble. Hank Leiber of the Giants wound up in a hospital after Feller beamed him in an exhibition game.

Difficult to classify are the unidentified illness that has kept Detroit's Schoolboy Rowe from taking his turn and caused him to be "laid off" until he was in shape, and John Whitehead's lack of girth control which made Manager Jimmy Dykes suspend him until he got into condition.

Colonials Will Practice Tonight

The Kingston Colonials will hold a workout at the Pan Am field this evening at 6 o'clock. Manager Fred Davi requests all players to be present as this will be the final workout before the doubleheader against the Sarvitt-Goma Sunday in Hartford. A business meeting will be held at the Colonial alleys at 9 p. m. to make final arrangements for the Hartford trip.

CURTIS STARS AND CHAMPS

START TOURNEY ON JUNE 1

San Antonio, Texas, May 21 (AP).—Four Curtis Cup team stars and a bevy of state champions will converge on San Antonio June 1 for the eleventh annual women's trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Tonight's turnout of boxing fans at the municipal auditorium is expected to outnumber those of Friday's because of the attraction card headed by Mario Severino, best face scrapper from Schenectady, and Roy Collier, Albany featherweight both of whom hold decisions on Kingston's Kid Chapple.

The scrap between these two is expected to be one of the highlights of the present boxing season, and those who regard the sport as their chief amusement look for a gingery leather slinging bout tonight.

Collier, the clever little neophyte under the tutelage of Sammy Briggs former pro fighter, seems to have edged because of his boxing ability, besides his punching power. He and Chapple broke even in two scraps both of which the fans liked.

Severino defeated Chapple, mainly by his willingness to bore in and mix hand slashes, which he keeps throwing from going to going. This 16-year-old schoolboy is looked upon as one of the future ring stars, following the footsteps of Lou Ambers, light weight champ of the world, who started his career as an amateur in Kingston.

The Severino-Collier match is for five rounds. Other set-ups billed for the same route are as follows:

Johnny Bilezik, 175, Schenectady vs. Johnny Tinsley, 175, Peekskill.

Jackie Filkins, 138, West Point vs. Tony Cava, 135, Peekskill.

Sally Callendo, 138, Peekskill vs. Johnny Leadbitter, 135, West Point.

Three rounders:

Steve Castellano, 142, Highland vs. Johnny Thomas, 142, Albany.

Johnny Caster, 132, Highland vs. Sally Nardillo, 145, Albany.

Tony LaRocco, 140, Kingston vs. Billy Pelez, 144, Albany.

The referee tonight will be Emmet Ryan, of Albany, appointed by the Adirondack Division of the A.A.U. under the auspices of which the bouts are held. Starting time is 9 o'clock.

Two More Steps for Snyder Lime Plant Will Be Rebuilt

Albany, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—New York took two additional steps today to insure safety on its highways as a Republican Senator asserted the state "has been dilatory and negligent in meeting the accident problem."

Governor Lehman's signature placed on the statute books bills to strengthen restrictions regarding omnibus lines by making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $25 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days, or both, for operation without sanction of the public service commission.

Require bicycles to be equipped with adequate brakes and steering mechanism, horn, bell, headlamp and front and rear reflectors.

Simultaneously, Republican State Senator Walter W. Stokes of Otsego county cited figures showing an automobile accident fatality record in New York of 2,762 plus 101,402 injured—what he termed a "shocking" daily average of seven killed and 300 injured.

While contending the state "dilatory" in curbing accidents, Stokes nevertheless credited it with taking "a bold and progressive step to deal with the problem in the future" by compelling highway safety education in public and private schools effective next September 1.

He sponsored a bill, approved by the legislature and signed by Lehman, making such education compulsory.

Stokes pledged to renew next year his efforts to provide an additional 300 state police to patrol the highways, rejected by the 1937 legislature.

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, May 21 (AP)—Unofficial reports today said a session of the papal senate for the creation of new cardinals would be held in June.

Mr. Gerlach stated that Mr. Thiel in trying to avoid striking a car crossing the road struck the truck. Both machines were damaged but no one was reported hurt.

The department of agriculture says strip sodding with buffalo grass may hold soil against wind erosion the same as strip cropping holds soil on hilly farmlands.

Bicycle Equipment After October 1

After October 1 all bicycles in use in New York state must be equipped with adequate brakes and steering mechanism, horn or bell, headlamp and front and rear reflectors, under provisions of a bill signed Thursday by Governor Lehman. The new law reads:

"Every bicycle, operated or driven upon any public highway in this state, shall be provided with adequate brakes and steering mechanism in good working order and sufficient to control such vehicle at all times when the same is in use, and a suitable and adequate horn, bell or other device, which shall produce a sound sufficiently loud to serve as a danger warning but which shall not be used other than as such warning nor be unnecessarily loud or harsh, and a front reflector and rear reflector, each of a type approved by the commissioner, to be applied and adjusted to the bicycle in such manner as to be visible for at least 200 feet, when opposed by a motor vehicle displaying lawful undimmed headlights at night on an unlighted highway. Every bicycle which is operated or driven on any public highway in this state during the period from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise shall display a lighted lamp on the front which shall be visible from a point 500 feet ahead of such bicycle and which shall project either white or yellow light."

Shoe Belonged to Hindenburg Sailor

A shoe that was blown from the foot of a German sailor on the ill-fated Hindenburg is on display in the store window of L. Kantrowitz, North Front street clothier.

The shoe was picked up by Mr. Farrell of the William Peters Brewing Co., New Jersey, who stood some 300 or more feet away from the Hindenburg at the time of the explosion. The shoe was blown directly at him. He picked it up as a memento and the next day brought it with him to Kingston and gave it to Frank Principe of the King Crown restaurant. The latter allowed Mr. Kantrowitz to place it on display in his uptown store.

The shoe has very little leather in it. The soles are flat, with no heel and are made of some composition, possibly to avoid friction. The uppers are a canvas and composition fabric. The laces had been blown out of the shoe, the left side of which is burned to a crisp although the right side is barely marked.

S. A. Chief of Staff Dismissed

London, May 21 (AP)—A secret court martial of the Salvation Army today dismissed Henry W. Mapp, 70-year-old chief of staff, "for reasons of personal conduct."

Discharge of the white-haired veteran who has been in the Salvation Army for 50 years and acted as its chief of staff since 1929 came after General Evangelina Booth, commander-in-chief, insisted on a court martial composed of five senior officers.

General Booth had the power to discharge any member of the great organization but forced the trial, officers disclosed, "because she did not want it said she had eliminated a man whose influence in the army rivaled hers."

It was recalled that two years ago Mapp was General Booth's strongest rival for the post of commander.

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Congressmen closely in touch with labor matters predicted today the administration's general labor legislation would seek to establish a 40-hour work week and a basic minimum wage of 40 cents an hour.

Sparks Not Cause Of Hindenburg Fire, Says Expert Today

Lakehurst, N. J., May 21 (AP)—Dr. Ludwig Duerr, chief construction director of the Hindenburg, told the department of commerce investigating board today that it was impossible to set a dirigible on fire by engine sparks.

His testimony struck a blow at the theory that sparks flying from the Hindenburg's motor exhausts somehow ignited the ship's highly inflammable hydrogen and caused the May 6 disaster which took 36 lives.

Dr. Duerr began his airship career with Count Zeppelin and has supervised design of every dirigible built in Germany in the past 38 years.

Discussing specifically the possibility of hydrogen being ignited, he pointed out the exhaust pipe temperatures of the Hindenburg's motors were between 230 and 250 degrees centigrade, whereas hydrogen does not reach the combustion point until the temperature is between 500 and 600 degrees centigrade.

Dr. Duerr was the first of the German delegation of experts to be called.

He described how gas cells were constructed to avoid any possibility of free hydrogen in the ship's hull. The gas cells' covering was "doped" with non-inflammable chemicals, he said.

The entire metallic structure was bonded against outside electricity—that is, all metal pieces were tied in to the structure so there was no spark gap, he said.

The corporation is organized with a capital of $10,000, consisting of 100 shares of stock at $100 par value, and the corporation papers state the purpose of the concern is to conduct and operate a dairy business at 74 Elmendorf street, Kingston.

Smith and Joseph M. Campbell of Saugerties. The Simmons brothers also operate a dairy in Woodstock and Saugerties.

BETTER CONDITIONS MAKE GASOLINE SALES GREATER

Albany, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—Generally improved economic conditions were attributed today by the administration as a major reason for an $1,272,506 increase in gasoline tax revenue for the first three months of 1937.

State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves said that the total taxable sales of gasoline for the period was 331,925,209 gallons as compared to 289,508,339, providing the state a revenue of $9,957,756 this year as compared with $8,685,250 for the corresponding period in 1936.

In addition to improved economic conditions, Graves said the boost in revenue was made possible by an increase in the number of motor vehicles registered in the state, and the mild weather which "stimulated motoring through the winter."

Home Institute SLIP COVERS WORK MIRACLES

Miracle-workers! That's what trim, smooth slip covers are. Make them easily yourself and, behold, you've a brand new living-room. The only hard task is selecting from the bewildering array of lovely fabrics. If you can't narrow your choice to one fabric, why not choose two or more? It's smart to have variety in slip covers.

For your sofa try cretonne in a huge floral print of plum, rose, gold and green for the back and seat sections, and plain green crash for the arms, apron, outside back and founce. The chair can be made to harmonize in an all-over shell pattern of cotton brocade in plum and beige.

If you can make a house dress, running up slip covers will be pie for you. Getting a perfect fit is simple if you know the bright little trick of professional upholsterers. They smooth the cloth over the chair, a section at a time, and pin it snugly to the chair right where the old upholstery was seamed or tacked. Then they cut the material to proper shape allowing 1 1/2 inches for seam allowance.

One of the smartest and most decorative of seam finishes is ornamental cord easily whipped on as the sketch shows.

No danger of a botched job if you follow step-by-step directions of our 40-page booklet, MAKING SLIP COVERS SUCCESSFULLY. Diagrams and clear explanations for every stage, from measuring to finishing. Also chapter on permanent upholstery.

Send 15 cents for our booklet, Making Slip Covers Successfully, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Lehman Vetoes Dog Race Measures

Albany, May 21 (AP)—Governor
Lehman vetoed today for a second consecutive year a bill designed to legalize dog racing in New York state.

The governor accompanied his veto with a 200-word message in which he declared the question should be left to the 1938 constitutional convention.

"Although generally modeled upon the provisions of existing law relating to thoroughbred horse racing," Lehman said, "this bill contains several new features."

"The principal one which calls for special attention would sanction the making and selling of pools upon the result of a dog race. In effect, the bill would permit the establishment and conduct of pari-mutuel betting at dog races."

gaining negotiations by the A. F. L.
Teamsters' Union. It was announced today by Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, regional director of the National Labor
